Congress Winds Up Work And Plans to Adjourn After Morning Sessions

Conference Agreement on Emergency Revenue Bill to Raise $200,000,000 for National Defense Adopted.

DRASTIC PROVISIONS GIVE TO PRESIDENT RETALIATORY POWERS

Bill Also Creates Tariff Commission, Increases Dyestuff Duties, Has Anti-Dumping Clause and Provides Various Taxes.

Washington, September 7.—Congress plans to adjourn Friday morning at 10 o'clock. After nine months devoted to legislation both houses held protracted sessions tonight to wind up their affairs by approving the conference agreement on the emergency revenue bill to raise approximately $200,000,000 desired by the administration to meet extraordinary appropriations for national defense and the Mexican emergency.

The senate at 12:55 Friday morning adopted the conference report on the emergency revenue bill without a record vote clearing the way for adjournment of congress at 10 o'clock.

At 1:07 a. m. the senate recessed until 8 o'clock. The concurrent resolution for adjournment at 10 o'clock was left on the table for action when the senate resumes.

Only the physical impossibility of engrossing the revenue measure in time for the president's approval before tomorrow morning prevented final adjournment tonight, despite the waning protests of members of both houses, who threatened but did not execute the threats to prolong the session by demands for action on measures which were crowded over until the winter session.

Leaders of the house and senate agreed upon a concurrent resolution to adjourn at 10 o'clock in the morning and scores of members left town on midnight trains eager to reach their homes for participation in the national political campaign.

Other Bills Put Aside.

The last appropriation measure, the general deficiency bill, was adopted by both houses while waiting for the conference report on the revenue bill and the senate ratified the Danish treaty to provide for purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000. The corrupt practices bill to limit campaign expenditures and the immigration bill, which President Wilson had announced he would veto if passed, were put aside and will be taken up and pressed to a vote early in the December session.

The revenue bill as it goes to President Wilson for approval tomorrow contains drastic provisions empowering the president to retaliate against foreign interference with American commerce, creates a non-partisan tariff commission, increases the duties on dyestuff to encourage their manufacture in the United States, provides means to prevent dumping of cheap foreign made goods into American markets after the war and provides for income, inheritance, munitions, corporation stock, liquor and miscellaneous internal revenue taxes.

During consideration of the report in the senate Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, protested vigorously against elimination by the conference committee of a retaliatory provision against Canadian control of Pacific coast fisheries and Representative Gardner, of Massachusetts, enlivened the house with bitter denunciation of the retaliatory provisions against foreign interference with American commerce.

Most Important Measure.

Agreement on the revenue bill was reached by the conference committee headed by Senator Simmons and Majority Leader Kitchin after two days of almost continuous deliberation. In the opinion of administration leaders the bill, which will raise approximately $200,000,000, is the most important measure of its kind ever enacted by congress.

Besides the tax provisions the bill contains legislative provisions of far-reaching importance, including the creation of a non-partisan tariff commission, provisions to prevent dumping of cheap foreign-made goods in American markets after the European war is over and drastic provisions giving the

TROOPERS IN CAMP TO GO TO BORDER

Order From War Department Is Expected Soon. Twelve Regiments Back From Border Mustered Out

Washington, September 7.—Orders were issued by the war department today for the discharge from federal service as soon as practicable of twelve national guard regiments comprising about 15,000 men recently withdrawn to their home states from the Mexican border, and a number of smaller organizations of some 1,500 college and university students.

Orders for the mustering out of additional units are expected to follow soon. The next regiment to leave the federal service will be the Fourteenth New York infantry, now at camp near Fishkill, N. Y., which will go as soon as its members are freed from danger of para-typhoid contagion. A number of cases of the disease already have been reported in that regiment and it will be held as a matter of precaution in the camp until the infection has been eradicated.

Surgeon General Gorgas said today a vigorous campaign against the disease was being waged and that he expected to see it stamped out promptly. A special para-typhoid serum is being manufactured and special precautions are taken to prevent the infection from spreading.

All to Have Chance.

There are about forty thousand guardsmen still in state mobilization camps, and these probably will be dispatched to the border very soon to relieve men now serving there. Secretary Baker favors giving all the state troops a chance for the training to be acquired on the patrol line.

Today's orders were construed by some officials as a preliminary move to the withdrawal of General Pershing's regulars from Mexico. Officers of the general staff insisted, however, that the release of the guardsmen resulted principally from the improving conditions on the border.

The original order for all guardsmen in the federal service to move to the border as soon as possible, although held in abeyance by General Funston's request received by the department when the railroad strike was imminent, has not been revoked. Secretary Baker is expected to lift the suspension shortly and permit troops waiting in mobilization camps to move as soon as they are ready.

The order releasing the college men requires them to go to their home mobilization camps for mustering out and resuming their status in the state guards.

Official Announcement.

The war department official announcement was made in the following statement:

"The secretary of war directs that all the organizations of the national guard in the federal service recently ordered from the border to their respective mobilization camps, be mustered out of the federal service as soon as practicable and returned to the normal status of national guard troops except in the case of the Fourteenth New York regiment which is to be held in service at its mobilization camp pending the prevalence in that regiment of para-typhoid.

"As soon as it can be safely done this regiment also will be mustered out. Similar precaution should be taken with any other organization returning from the border suffering from any infection or which is under suspicion of being infected."

The regiments affected by the order are the First Louisiana infantry; Second, Fourteenth and Seventy-first New York infantry; First and Fourth New Jersey infantry; Fourth Maryland infantry; First and Second Illinois infantry; First and Third Missouri infantry; Fifth California infantry; Third Oregon infantry, and Second Washington infantry.

All organizations composed exclusively of students also were ordered mustered out of the federal service. The order, however, does not affect individual students enrolled as such in national guard organizations.

New Decatur, Ala., September 7.—Major Daniel L. Downs, a confederate veteran, today died at his home here from a bullet wound received fifty years ago at the battle of Franklin, Tennessee.

HUSBAND TO BLAME, MRS. ADAMS CLAIMS

Declares Taunts and Threats Following Her Confession Caused Her to Seek Victim and Fire Fatal Bullets.

Macon, Ga., September 7.—(Special.) Declaring that her action in killing Captain E. J. Spratling at Camp Harris was the result of the taunts and threats of her husband, H. T. Adams, of Atlanta, Mrs. Mattie C. Adams gave out a startling statement at the Bibb county jail here today.

Mrs. Adams claims that instead of getting the sympathy which she expected following her confession of the alleged wrongs committed by the doctor in his office her husband taunted her and raved at her, telling her that she did not have nerve enough to kill a rat.

"I did not tell my husband of Dr. Spratling attacking me for several reasons," said Mrs. Adams. "Mr. Adams is a strange man. He left me once, and we were separated for 28 months, and I was afraid he wouldn't understand and would leave me again. I believe he would have killed Dr. Spratling had he known what he had done.

"I was afraid of Dr. Spratling. He was much older than I. I brooded over the attack while I was sick and almost dead and decided to tell my husband. I was in hopes that it would not affect him like it did, but it seemed to drive him almost crazy. He would not accept my explanation of why I had not told him sooner, declaring it was his duty to protect me and that I should have told him; that people would think he was a poor sort of a man to let anyone abuse his wife. He said I should have come to him and cleared myself.

Husband Threatened to Leave.

"The next day he acted so that I could hardly stand it. He left his bank book at the house and told me to take the money and go to my home in Nashville. When I did not go he told me if I didn't go he would, and tell why he left. He forced me to kill the physician.

"Dr. Spratling had broken up my home and I decided to kill him. I went to a pawn shop on Decatur street in Atlanta and purchased a pistol. I then went to his office and was told by the elevator boy that Dr. Spratling was in Macon. Then I decided to come to Macon. My husband left the house about 5:30 a. m., to go to work. He thought I was asleep, but I wasn't. I felt the only way for me to clear myself was for me to kill the man who had ruined my home. Anybody else would have done the same thing.

"When I arrived in Macon I got instructions how to reach the camp and after my arrival there I asked for directions how to reach Captain Spratling's tent. I went in the wrong tent. It was several tents away from Captain Spratling's. Then I went on a little further and finally located the right tent. Captain Spratling was eating when I entered. I asked him if he was Captain Spratling and he replied 'yes.' Then I shot him. I believe I was right and believe I will be acquitted.

Does Not Regret Act.

"My mind was so upset because he had broken up my home that if he had been in Mexico I would have followed him there and killed him. I have not regretted for one minute what I did. Jealously had nothing to do with it. I was never jealous of but one man in my life and he was my husband."

In a letter received today by Mrs. Adams from her husband, the latter announced that he had employed Judge John S. Candler to represent Mrs. Adams.

CARS RUN IN NEW YORK IN SPITE OF STRIKERS

Normal Schedules Maintained on Elevated Roads and on Subway.

New York, September 7.—Subway and elevated transportation lines on Manhattan island were being operated tonight on what officials of the Interborough Rapid Transit company said were virtually normal schedules, although it was admitted that service on the surface lines of the New York Railway company was seriously affected by the traction strike called last night.

Officials of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees who are conducting the strike, conceded that schedules on the subway and elevated lines were not seriously hampered, but reiterated their determination to fight to the end. Theodore P. Shonts, president of the Interborough, issued a statement late today in which he said the strike was a failure, and that if police protection continued as good as it had been throughout the day, the city was assured of normal transportation facilities.

Disorders that occurred in various parts of the city today resulted in only minor injuries to a few persons, according to polic reports. In some instances bricks were thrown from roofs upon elevated trains and attempts were also made to "rush" station employees from their posts.

Former Georgia Nurse Who Married Indian Left Valuable Estate

Milwaukee, Wis., September 7.—(Special.)—Ashland, Wis., the $40,000 estate of Frank R. Brown, an Indian, goes to his widow, Mrs. Caroline Rogers Brown, formerly of Avico, Ga., who studied her profession in the Atlanta city hospital.

The Indian was only 24, and one of the richest belonging on the Bad River reservation. Having consumption, he went to a sanitarium in Arizona in hope of cure, and there met the young nurse whom he married October 8, 1915. Just three months later he died.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS KILLS ALABAMA GIRL

Huntsville, Ala., September 7.—(Special.)—One death has occurred in Madison county as a result of infantile paralysis. The fourth case reported has proved fatal, the victim being Neida Franklin, a 3-year-old girl, of Toney, Ala.

PACT FOR PURCHASE OF DANISH ISLANDS RATIFIED BY SENATE

Treaty With Denmark Is Passed Without Roll Call by More Than Two-Thirds Vote.

SUM OF $25,000,000 FINALLY AGREED UPON

Amendment to Reduce the Price to $10,000,000 Was Overwhelmingly Defeated. Executive Session Held.

Washington, September 7.—The treaty providing for the purchase from Denmark of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000 was ratified by the senate at 9:12 o'clock tonight by more than a two-thirds vote.

There was no roll call, and less than half a dozen senators, including Senators Norris, Jones and Clapp, voted against it.

Before it was ratified Senator Norris moved an amendment which would reduce the price to be paid for the islands from $25,000,000 to $10,000,000. The amendment was rejected by an overwhelming vote.

Favorable action on the treaty at this session of congress had been strongly urged by the administration, particularly because of the influence it might have upon the situation in Denmark, where the lower house of parliament has approved it, and a fight is being made for ratification in the upper house.

Followed Long Debate.

The vote tonight followed several hours of debate in executive session, while the senate was waiting for the conference report on the emergency revenue bill, the only obstacle to adjournment of congress. Finding that no serious opposition developed, administration leaders arranged for a recess from 8:15 to 8:30 o'clock to round up a quorum and force final action. By mistake adjournment instead of a recess was taken, causing a few minutes delay while the sergeant-at-arms looked for a minister to offer the invocation required under the rules, but when no minister was to be found a precedent was established by dispensing with the invocation and voting began soon afterward. An amendment by Senator Norris to reduce the purchase price from $25,000,000 to $10,000,000 was defeated by an overwhelming vote, and the treaty was approved just as it was signed by Secretary Lansing and Minister Brun in New York August 4.

Negotiations for the purchase of the islands, a little group to the east of Porto Rico, have been in progress intermittently for half a century. Because of their strategic value, particularly since the construction of the Panama canal, the American government has been anxious to acquire them, not only with a view to establishing a naval base there, but to prevent the islands from falling into the hands of any foreign power. German interference was credited with blocking negotiations on the subject in 1902 after the United States senate had ratified a treaty.

Terms Were Kept Secret.

Practically nothing was known about the recent conferences between Secretary Lansing and Minister Brun, and there was no announcement of the fact that the negotiations had been renewed until shortly before the pact was signed. Even the terms of the purchase were kept secret until one of the confidential copies of the treaty sent to the senate had disappeared and its substance was published.

In Denmark the treaty has developed a political crisis that may result in a new general election and reorganization of the cabinet. The folkething, the lower house, ratified it August 11, by a vote of 62 to 44, but much more serious opposition developed in the landsthing. After a bitter fight, the upper house adopted a resolution notifying the cabinet that it was willing parliament should be dissolved and a general election held unless sale of the islands could be postponed until after the European war. The vote on this resolution was 39 to 7.

Since then there have been indications that the cabinet had won over some leaders of the upper house, and suggestions that the controversy might be settled without holding elections for parliament and by submitting the question of the sale itself to a popular vote. So far as known here, however, no such plan has been finally decided upon.

Under the terms of the treaty Denmark would sell to the United States the islands of St. Thomas, St. John and St. Croix, together with adjacent islands and rocks, and including "the right of property in all public government or crown lands, public buildings, wharves, ports, harbors, fortifications, barracks, public funds, rights, franchises and privileges, and all other public property of every kind or description now belonging to Denmark, together with all the appurtenances thereto."

BRITISH AEROPLANES RAID TURK POSITIONS

London, September 7.—A raid by British aeroplanes on Turkish positions at El Arish, in the Sinai peninsula, 90 miles east of the Suez canal, is reported in the following official statement given out here today:

"On Tuesday two of our aeroplanes raided the Turkish aerodrome and aeroplane repair section at El Arish. Twelve bombs were dropped apparently with good results.

"Enemy aeroplanes attacked our machines, but did not close in, only opening fire at long range. They ultimately gave up the fight. Our machines returned undamaged."

NEGRO MOB ATTACKS BAILIFF AND HIS SON

T. E. Cass Badly Beaten When Negroes Attempt to Rescue Prisoner—Son Uses Gun, Wounding Three Assailants—Officers Use Riot Clubs on Crowd.

Macon, Ga., September 7.—(Special.) Three negroes were shot and a deputy sheriff was badly beaten up in a riot this evening in West Macon, in which a number of the negroes living in what is known as Unionville, a settlement, participated.

The trouble started when T. E. Cass, a bailiff for Justice Leo Davis, went to serve a dispossessory warrant on Brady Jefferson. Ernest Cass, the deputy's son, accompanied him. Brady Jefferson was arrested, the handcuffs placed on him, and he was placed in a buggy preparatory to taking him to jail. About that time the negro's brother came up and jerked Bailiff Cass out of the buggy. Several other negroes came up and the whole outfit attacked the deputy, beating and kicking him, after first having relieved him of his pistol.

Emmett Cass, however, opened fire on the negroes, wounding three of them, including Brady Jefferson, Doc Denton and an unidentified negro, who escaped.

The bailiff and his son managed to get away from the crowd of negroes, which was rapidly increasing in number. They made their way to a grocery store two blocks away and phoned for the police. A squad of officers hastened to the scene. When they arrived they found 150 negroes in a threatening attitude. It was necessary for the officers to use riot clubs to disperse the crowd. Several negroes who were identified as being among those who attacked Cass were arrested and lodged in jail.

FORD SUES THE TRIBUNE FOR $1,000,000 DAMAGES

Seeks Compensation for Being Called Anarchist by Chicago Paper.

Chicago, September 7.—Suit for $1,000,000 was filed by Henry Ford, the Detroit manufacturer, against The Chicago Tribune in the United States district court here today. Mr. Ford asks for personal damages as compensation for an editorial printed in The Tribune June 13, which, it is charged, called Ford an "anarchist."

The bill charges that The Tribune "sought to bring the plaintiff into public hatred, contempt, ridicule and financial injury," by publishing the editorial.

The editorial, it is charged, referred to Mr. Ford as "ignorant, a deluded human being," and "an anarchistic enemy to the nation which protects him in his wealth."

The editorial also charged that employees of Mr. Ford's would lose their positions if they went to the border as members of the national guard.

Editorial Attacking Ford.

The editorial was based on the report that Mr. Ford's employees would lose their places if they went to the border as members of the national guard. The bill quotes the editorial as saying, "Ford is an anarchist."

"Inquiry at the Henry Ford offices in Detroit discloses the fact that employees of Ford who are members of or recruits in the national guard will lose their places. No provision will be made for anyone dependent upon them. Their wages will stop, their families may get along in any fashion possible, their positions will be filled and if they come back safely and apply for their jobs again they will be on the same footing as any other applicants. This is the rule of the Ford employees everywhere.

"Information was refused as to the number of American soldiers unfortunate enough to have Henry Ford as an employer at this time, but at the Detroit recruiting office it was said that about seventy-five men will pay this price for their services to their country."

The editorial continues:

"Mr. Ford thus proves that he does not believe in service to the nation in the fashion a soldier must serve it. If his factory were on the southern and not the northern border we presume he would feel the same way. We do not know precisely what he would do if a Villa band decided that the Ford strong boxes were worth opening and that it would be pleasant to see the Ford factories burn. It is evident that it is possible for millionaires just south of the Canadian border to be indifferent to what happens just north of the Mexican border.

"If Ford allows this rule of his shops to stand he will reveal himself not as merely an ignorant idealist, but as an anarchistic enemy of the nation which protects him in his wealth."

EMPEROR WILLIAM SEES HIS TROOPS RETREAT ON SOMME

Paris, September 7.—Emperor William, according to La Liberte's correspondent at th efront, is watching in person the fierce struggle going on for the possession of Combles. The chief gain of yesterday's battle, the correspondent says, was that of the French General Micheler's forces, who reached the railroad running from Roye to Peronne and hold it for a distance of 2½ miles, with the result that the German line of communication behind the Somme are now entirely in the hands of the entente allies.

Chaines, says the correspondent, is only about two-thirds of a mile distant from the French line, and is expected to fall at any time.

The capture of Berny-En-Santerre enables the French to dominate Barleux, which is the last point of support of the German second line of defense and completes the encirclement of Deniecourt Park, for which a stubborn struggle is going on.

French Straighten Line While Big Guns Prepare For Fresh Allied Attack

AUSTRIANS RETREAT BEFORE RUMANIANS

Teuton Retirement in Face of Threatened Enveloping Movement — Germans and Bulgars Capture Turtukai Fortress.

Vienna concedes a retreat of the Austrian forces before the Rumanians near Olah Toplitza, in Eastern Transylvania, 20 miles from the Rumanian border. The retreat was made in the face of a threatened enveloping movement. To the southeast of this same region the Rumanians have occupied the Gyergyo-Ditro-Orsova pass.

In the capture of Turtukai fortress the Germans and Bulgarians took more than 20,000 prisoners and more than 100 guns, according to Berlin. Bucharest says the fighting in this vicinity is of great violence and that the losses on both sides have been heavy.

The Russians in Turkish Armenia, near Ognott continue to drive the Turks from their strong mountain defenses, according to Petrograd. On the Macedonia front and in the Austro-Italian theater the fighting is still being done mainly by means of artillery.

In German East Africa two additional ports—Kilwa Kivinje and Kila Kisiwani—south of Dar-Es-Salaam, have surrendered to the British.

VIENNA ADMITS AUSTRIAN RETREAT.

Vienna, September 7.—(Via London.) Austrian troops have withdrawn before a threatening Rumanian envelopment to the heights west of Olah Toplitza, southwest of Dorna Watra and 20 miles east of the Rumanian border says the official statement issued at the Austro-Hungarian headquarters today. On the Russian front the Austrian troops between the Zlota Lipa and the Dniester rivers also have been withdrawn.

20,000 RUMANIANS AND FORT CAPTURED.

Berlin, September 7.—(Via London.) More than 20,000 Rumanians were taken prisoner when Bulgarian and German troops captured the Rumanian fortress of Turtukai, says the official statement issued today by the German army headquarters.

The official statement says that in the capture of the Rumanian fortress more than 100 guns were taken.

Petrograd, September 7.—(Via London.)—Turtukai, a fortified Rumanian town on the Danube, about fifty miles southeast of Bucharest, has been evacuated by the Rumanians, according to the Russian official statement issued today.

"Under the pressure of superior German and Bulgarian forces," the announcement says, "Rumanian troops were compelled to evacuate Turtukai."

Bucharest, September 6.—(Via London, September 7.)—Rumanian troops have occupied Gyergyo-Ditro-Orsova pass, on the north and northwest frontier of Rumania, says the official statement issued by the Rumanian war department today. Seven guns, a number of machine guns and important food stores were captured from the Austro-Hungarians.

German and Bulgarian forces having received numerous reinforcements continue to attack with great violence the Rumanian fortress of Turtukai. The garrison of the fortress is ceaselessly counter attacking, the Rumanian statement adds, and the losses on each side are said to have been very serious.

GREEK FORCE DRIVES BULGARS FROM FORTS

Troops Under Col. Christodoulos Capture Two Fortifications at Kavala.

Saloniki, September 7.—(Via London.)—Colonel Christodoulos, with the troops of the Greek garrison at Seres, 45 miles northeast of Saloniki, has succeeded in making his way to the seaport of Kavala on the Aegean sea, where he is reported to have seized two forts despite the opposition of the Bulgarian troops which had occupied them.

It was reported from Greek sources at Saloniki last week that the entire force of about 3,000 men under Colonel Christodoulos, which had left Seres to resist the Bulgarian invasion of Macedonia, had been captured by Bulgarians.

Athens, Wednesday, September 6.—(Via London, September 7.)—King Constantine this morning received 150 officers of the eleventh division of the Greek army stationed at Saloniki, who had refused to join the rebels when a revolution broke out in the Saloniki garrison, September 1.

The king delivered an address congratulating the officers, saying their action constituted a brilliant page in military history and set a great example for coming generations.

With such officers and men, His Majesty said, he was ready to face any enemy.

SHIPPING BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT WILSON

Washington, September 7.—President Wilson today signed the shipping bill. It authorizes government organization of a corporation or corporations with capitalization of not more than $50,000,000 to buy or lease ships and put them in trade if they cannot be leased for operation to private capital.

Bombardment South of Somme So Violent Germans Were Unable to Carry Out Counter Attacks. Allied Airmen Busy.

HALICZ, NEAR LEMBERG, BURSTS INTO FLAMES UNDER RUSSIAN GUNS

Railway Line Cut by Russians — Both Berlin and Vienna Admit Retreats Between Zlota Lipa and Dneister Rivers.

The infantry of the belligerents in the Somme region of France was inactive Thursday except south of the river, where the French, to the east of Deniecourt, captured elements of trenches from the Germans and brought forward their front more in alignment with their newly acquired line running through Belloy-En-Santerre and Berny-En-Santerre.

The day, however, was a continuation of the violent bombardments which always precede attempts at fresh advances by the entente allies.

In addition, great aerial activity was shown by French and British aerial squadrons in bombarding points of vantage behind the German lines.

South of the Somme so violent was the French artillery fire that under it the Germans were unable to make their customary counter attacks, according to Paris.

The Germans are heavily shelling the French in the old first line German trenches a mile in length between the Vaux-Chapitre region and the town of Chenois, in the Verdun sector, which were taken by the French Wednesday night.

In Galicia the Russians are still actively in quest of Lemberg, keeping up their pressure against the Austro-Germans westward from the regions of Brzezany and Halicz. Near Brzezany the Russians have driven back the Teutons from fortified positions and advanced to the Naraiuvka river, a tributary of the Gnita Lipa, and at some points have crossed the stream. Near Halicz the railway line has been cut by the Russians, who now are heavily bombarding Halicz, which, although in flames, the force of the central powers are still stubbornly defending.

In Wednesday's fighting in the Halicz sector, 5,645 officers and men of the Teutonic allies were made prisoner. Both Berlin and Vienna admit retreats between the Zlota Lipa and Dniester rivers.

FRENCH GUNS STOP GERMAN ATTACK.

Paris, September 7.—(Via London.)—The French artillery fire south of the Somme has prevented the Germans from making a counter attack, according to the official communication issued by the war office tonight. Some additional progress for the French troops is recorded.

The statement reads:

"North of the Somme there has been a violent bombardment in various sectors without infantry action. In a trench recently captured four bomb throwers and sixteen machine guns were added to the material previously brought in.

"South of the Somme the enemy, reduced to impotence by the violence of our artillery, was unable to make a counter attack. Immediately east of Denlecourt we captured some new trench elements in the course of isolated combats in which we took fifty prisoners.

"In Champagne a German reconnaissance was caught by our fire west of Maisons de Champagne and dispersed; some prisoners fell into our hands.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun sector) the enemy bombarded our new positions in the Vaux-Chapitre wood. During last evening's attack in this sector we captured 250

Autumn in the Glare of Summer's Retiring Calorics

Summer 1916 is officially and chronologically gone—rubbed off the calendar, yet its exit otherwise is not apparent! 90 temperature still "sticks around," and the idea of wearing velvet hats, and coat suits, makes one feel just a bit "swelter-wise"—yet Fall Fashion must drop its particular "cog" in the season's changing styles; and promptly on time, and in lavish variety, the fall vogue in feminine wear stands on the autumnal threshold. Dominant in the glory of the newest creations in millinery, suits and wraps for street wear and social functions, Atlanta's big stores and exclusive shops are now a delight to the followers of fashion's fads; and reading the merchants' advertising about these charming toilets in The Constitution is authority for the best styles, biggest values AND ALWAYS THE LOWEST PRICES.

ARTILLERY ACTIVE ON BRITISH FRONT.

London, September 8.—The British official communication issued shortly before midnight says:

"The general situation is unchanged Our artillery dispersed enemy working parties east and southeast of Ginchy Between the Somme and the Ancre the enemy's artillery was active during the day, shelling the rear of our lines. Our artillery replied effectively and, assisted by aerial observations, successfully dealt with enemy batteries.

"Between Souchez and La Bassee canal our artillery and trench mortars bombarded the enemy's lines continuously, and northwest of Hollebeke we effectively shelled the bridgehead on the Ypres canal.

Berlin, September 7.—(Via London.) Repeated attacks were made yesterday and last night by the French and British along the Somme front. Today's official announcement says Vermandovillers was entered, but that assaults at other points were repulsed.

GERMANS FALL BACK NEAR LEMBERG.

Berlin, September 7.—(Via London.) After heavy fighting with the Russians in the sector southeast of Lemberg eastern Galicia, the Germans have fallen back in the sector between the Zlota Lipa and Dniester rivers, the war office announced today. Russian attacks near Brzezany, on the Zlota Lipa, southeast of Lemberg, were unsuccessful.

"Army group of Prince Leopold: There was no events of especial importance.

"Army group of Archduke Charles Francis: Unsuccessful attacks were made by the Russians east and southeast of Brzezany. Between the Zlota Lipa and the Dniester, in connection with the battles described yesterday, we withdrew to a position previously prepared further back. Our rear guards reached these positions in the course of the day.

"In the Carpathians, southwest of Zielona (35 miles southeast of Stanislau) and on the Bagaludova, west of the Kirlibaba valley (on the border between Bukowina and Hungary) the Russians made attacks which were repulsed. We also repulsed attacks delivered by Russian and Rumanian troops on both sides of Dorna Watra (in southern Bukowina, near the Rumanian and Hungarian borders)."

FRENCH CAPTURE MILE OF TRENCHES.

Paris, September 7.—The French have captured the German first-line trenches over a front of one mile on the Verdun front, the war office announced today.

The breach in the German line was effected on the front northeast of Verdun between the Vaux-Chapitre region and the Chenois. The French took 250 prisoners.

The French statement adds that a powerful effort made by German troops to dislodge the French from Hospital Farm on the Somme front was without success, and that the Germans were dispersed with heavy losses.

Today's French official statement reads:

"North of the Somme the Germans made a powerful effort to dislodge us from Hospital farm. Their attacks were swept by our machine guns and dispersed with heavy losses. The enemy did not renew his attempts during the night. In other sectors there was nothing to report.

"South of the Somme the Germans debouched in force from the village of Horgny, and made several attacks against our new positions southwest of Belloy-En-Santerre, and south of Barleux. All these attacks were stopped by our curtains of fire before they were able to approach our lines. The losses which the enemy suffered during these fruitless attacks appear to have been very great. Four hundred prisoners taken south of the Somme yesterday have been counted up to now.

"According to fresh information, the German troops beaten back yesterday by our infantry in the region east of Chilly belonged to a Saxon division which was transferred hurriedly from the Aisne front.

"On the right bank of the Meuse (Verdun front) toward the end of the day yesterday, after violent artillery preparation, our troops attacked the German organizations on the front between Vaux-Chapitre wood and Chenois. The entire front line of the enemy trenches fell into our hands on a length of about 1,500 meters. We took about 250 prisoners and about ten machine guns.

"There is no event of importance to report from the remainder of the front."

The statement reporting operations in Macedonia says:

"Army of the East: On the front, as a whole, there was an intermittent cannonade except in the sectors of Paroj and Dodzeli, west of Lake Doiran, which the enemy violently bombarded.

"A British cruiser effectively beat down the fire of Bulgarian batteries in the direction of the lower Struma."

BRITISH REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS.

London, September 7.—A German attempt to regain possession of Leuze wood on the Somme front last night led to hand-to-hand fighting with the British. The war office announced today that the Germans were beaten back.

The announcement follows:

"Under cover of darkness the enemy made a counter-attack against our position in Leuze wood. After hand-to-hand fighting the enemy was driven back, leaving two officers and seventeen men prisoners in our hands.

"The fighting at Ginchy continues. There has been considerable artillery activity on both sides during the night and this morning, the enemy using gas and lachrymatory shells. East of Neuville St. Vaast, the enemy exploded a mine. Yesterday evening we carried out a very effective bombardment of the enemy's trenches west of Lens."

MINOR ENGAGEMENTS IN MACEDONIA.

London, September 7.—An official statement reporting military operations in Macedonia issued today says:

"Saloniki—On the Struma front several raids were made by our patrols on enemy trenches. Some prisoners were captured.

"The royal navy successfully shelled a battalion of enemy infantry concentrated opposite Neochari (in Eastern Greek Macedonia near Orfani.)

"On the Doiran front there was considerable artillery activity. Hostile guns which were shelling Vladoja were silenced.

"We shot down an enemy aeroplane which fell in flames into Lake Doiran."

ITALIAN ARTILLERY DOING ACTIVE WORK.

Rome, September 7.—(Via London.) "Notwithstanding the persistently bad weather," says the war office announcement of today, "the artillery was particularly active yesterday in the basin of the Tesino at Gringo and Brenta on Monte Cauriol, in the Fiemme valley in the zone east of Gorizia, and on the Carso. At the head of the Rio Felizon in the valley of the Boite, an enemy detachment which attempted a surprise attack against our new position on Punta del Forame was almost destroyed by our fire. A few survivors were captured and they confirmed previoues indications that serious losses had been suffered by the Austrians in that area in the last few days."

CONGRESS ENDS WORK AND PLANS TO ADJOURN

president authority to retaliate against European belligerents which discriminate against or interfere with American trade and commerce or lay unjust embargoes against American goods. The conference eliminated one of the senate amendments, not approved by the state department, which would have authorized the president to deny the use of the mails and express, telegraph, cable and wireless facilities of the United States to citizens of foreign nations which interfered with American mails.

As finally agreed to the revenue provisions of the bill include a normal income tax of two per cent, with increased sur takes, an inheritance tax, a tax of 12½ per cent on net profits of munitions manufacturers, a license tax of 50 cents on each $1,000 stock of corportations capitalized in excess of $99,000, wine, beer and liquor taxes, brokers' taxes and a re-enactment of the theater and amusement taxes of the existing war revenue. All stamp taxes in the present law are repealed and all that were included in this bill were eliminated in conference. These were regarded as "popularly obnoxious."

Provisions of Bill.

Authority to take drastic retaliatory steps against interference with American commerce by belligerents in the European war are contained in the emergency revenue bill as finally approved. The provisions, put into the measure in the senate at the suggestion of the state department, were written by the conference committee, but their general effect was unchanged.

As finally agreed upon, the first of the retaliatory authorizations reads:

"Whenever any country, dependency or colony shall prohibit the importation of any article the product of the soil or industry of the United States and not injurious to health or morals the president shall have the power to prohibit, during the period of such prohibition is in force, the importation into the United States of similar articles, or in case the United States does not import similar articles from that country, then other articles, the products of such country, dependency or colony."

The second follows:

"That whenever during the existence of a war in which the United States is not engaged the president shall be satisfied that there is reasonable ground to believe that under the laws regulations or practice of nations, the importation into their own or any other country, dependency or colony of any article the product of the soil or industry of the United States and not injurious to health or morals is prevented or restricted the president is authorized and empowered to prohibit or restrict during the period such prohibition or restriction is in force, the importation into the United States similar or other articles, products of such country, dependency or colony as in his opinion that public interest may require; and in such cases he shall make proclamation stating the article or articles which are prohibited from importation into the United States, and any person or persons who shall import, or attempt to conspire to import or be concerned in importing, such article or articles in the United States contrary to the prohibition in such proclamation, shall be liable to a fine of not less than $2,000 nor more than $50,000, or to imprisonment not to exceed two years, or both, in the discretion of the court. The president may change, modify, revoke or renew such proclamation in his discretion; and the senate agree to the same."

Can Withhold Clearance.

The final retaliation measure based on the same war conditions would give the president authority to withhold clearance to vessels of a belligerent nation, "making or giving any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage in any respect whatsoever to any particular person, company, firm or corporation, or any particular description of traffic in the United States or to any citizen of the United States residing in neutral countries abroad or is subjecting any particular person, corporation or any particular description of traffic in the United States or its possesions, or any citizen of the United States residing in neutral countries abroad to any undue or unreasonable prejudice, disadvantage, injury or discrimination in regard to accepting, receiving, transporting or delivering, or refusing to accept, receive, transfer or deliver any cargo, freight or passengers, or in any other respect whatsoever, he is hereby authorized and empowered to direct the detention of such vessels by withholding clearance or by formal notice forbidding departure, and to revoke, modify or renew any such direction."

It also would give authority to the president to deny American facilities of commerce to citizens in the United States of any offending belligerent nation and would authorize him to use the land and naval forces of the government to enforce the retaliatory provision.

To Back Down Gradually.

The expectation of officials here is that any change the allies may decide to make as a result of the legislation will be made gradually rather than in the form of a blanket modification of the blockade. By exercising greater leniency in cases of detained cargoes, by less rigorously enforcing the blacklist, by permitting mails to pass through more quickly, and by similar means, it is pointed out, a great part of the annoyance to Americans could be eliminated without a formal acknowledgment of defeat in the diplomatic controversy.

Some officials believe passage of the legislation already has had a softening effect on the allied attitude toward American trade interests. Official and unofficial dispatches from London in the past few days, they point out, have not reflected such an uncompromising sentiment as has ever been apparent heretofore. With the retaliatory authority in the hands of the president, these officials predict the allies will realize more fully what sweeping effects their restrictive measures have had on this side of the Atlantic, and important modifications will quietly be put into effect. Just that, it is understood, was the purpose which the state department hoped to accomplish by proposing legislative action.

ADVISES BRITAIN TO RECONSIDER.

London, September 7.—Commenting on the amendment to the revenue bill, passed by the United States senate Tuesday night empowering the president to retaliate against interference with American commerce, the Manchester Guardian says that although those who see in it no more than a flourish having a special virtue on the eve of election may be right, "nevertheless we should do well to note two things:

"First, these reprisals are directed against the allies and primarily against ourselves; second, they are popular in America."

The Guardian considers it is not generally realized here how strong a sentiment has been aroused throughout the United States by the blacklist policy and interference with mails, and asks "if the foreign office is convinced these practices of ours are so useful as to counterbalance the weakening of American sympathy they involve or that they cannot be modified so as to meet American objections without seriously impairing any utilities they may have for ourselves."

Will Adjourn Today.

Plans for the final adjournment of congress tonight were abandoned shortly before 9 o'clock when it was found that it would take at least twelve hours to engross the emergency revenue bill for signing. Leaders in both houses determined, however, to approve the conference report on the measure and adjourn as early as possible tomorrow.

The house by a viva voce vote at 10:15 o'clock adopted the conference report on the revenue bill and immediately afterward unanimously adopted a concurrent resolution providing for adjournment of congress sine die at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

SCHOONER BRINGS NEWS OF EXPLORER M'MILLAN

Members of Arctic Expedition Refuse to Leave Post on Relief Ship.

Battle Harbor, Labrador, September 7.—The Grenfell mission schooner George B. Cluett, which went to the relief of the Donald B. MacMillan Arctic expedition in July, 1915, has returned here. Only Captain H. C. Pickles and the crew are aboard, MacMillan, Dr. E. O. Hovey, who led the relief expedition, and the other scientists of the party having elected to remain for a while in the northern part of Greenland.

The MacMillan party wintered aboard the Cluett in Parker Snow bay, east of Etah, and Captain Pickles reports that on July 29, 1916, when the Cluett left North Star bay, Greenland, about 20 miles north of the expedition's winter quarters, all the party were in good health and had an abundance of supplies.

The MacMillan party were joined by Knud Rasmussen, the Danish explorer, who had been engaged in that region in mapping out the coast, and it is understood that they will return by way of Denmark.

Suffered Breakdown Three Years Ago — Health Restored by Tanlac and Weighs More Than She Ever Has.

"Tanlac has not only restored my mother's former good health, but it has also increased her weight fifteen pounds," said L. J. Carmichael, a well-known resident of Smyrna, Ga., a few days ago.

"About three years ago," continued Mr. Carmichael, "mother unfortunately lost her eyesight and she suffered a complete nervous breakdown. The least unusual thing would throw her into hysterics and many a night she couldn't sleep at all. She had no desire for anything to eat and the little she did eat failed to digest and seemed to do her harm in place of good. She could eat no meats at all; in fact, there were very few things she could eat, and she lost weight and became very thin and weak. She complained of severe pains all over and her health seemed to be entirely gone.

"Nothing ever did mother any good until she used Tanlac. But it's a fact, since taking three bottles of that medicine she has gained fifteen pounds and she now weighs more than she ever did in her life. She eats heartily now of just anything she wants, and everything agrees with her perfectly. Her nervousness has all disappeared and she sleeps like a child every night. She's bright and cheerful now and is perfectly well, except her sight.

"I can conscientiously recommend Tanlac for what I've seen it do in mother's case."

SUFFRAGISTS PLAN FUND OF $1,000,000

Adopt Platform and Outline Campaign for Securing the Submission of the Federal Suffrage Amendment.

Atlantic City, N. J., September 7.—After a long debate, which carried the afternoon session of the convention well into the evening, the National American Woman Suffrage association today adopted a platform outlining its plan of campaign for securing the submission of the federal suffrage amendment to the state legislature for ratification.

It was decided that the next annual convention in 1917 be held in March or "thereabouts;" that a lobby be continued at Washington and that the association conduct a nation-wide campaign of education, agitation, organization and publicity in support of the federal amendment. A million-dollar campaign fund is to be raised between October, this year, and October, 1917.

It was further agreed by the convention that no state association shall ask the legislature of its state for the submission of an amendment or referendum to the people until the national board or executive council of the association shall have been given the opportunity to investigate conditions and give consent. Any state organization which proceeds to such a state campaign without consent must be prepared to finance and conduct its campaign without help from the national body. Other steps are also to be taken to standardize and nationalize the women suffrage movement.

Steam Roller Charged.

The convention got into a tangle over the method of considering the platform, many parliamentary moves being made to postpone immediate consideration or to have the numerous items in it taken up seriatim. Intimations were made that a steam roller was being used to put the platform through the convention, but in the end it was adopted without amendment.

Then followed another debate on the resolution of President Carrie Chapman Catt, presented yesterday, which interprets the constitution to mean that the submission of the federal amendment is the immediate and principal aim of the association and that all state work is merely in preparedness to that end. This resolution had been made a special order for the morning session and was moved back until this afternoon. When it did come before the convention Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, former president, endeavored to have consideration again postponed until tomorrow morning. There was objection and the delegates plunged into a discussion of the resolution. Finally many of the delegates became weary of the long session and when another motion was made to postpone consideration it was quickly adopted and the resolution was fixed for the first order of business tomorrow morning.

"Woman's Hour Has Struck."

The annual address of the president was one of the features of the day's proceedings, Mrs. Catt reviewing the suffrage movement in many states for years back. The keynote of her speech was that "woman's hour has struck." She declared that the federal amendment should be the ultimate aim of the association and that the work in the states should be a program of preparedness to win nation-wide suffrage.

Many delegates today explained to the convention the difficulties of getting proposed constitutional amendments through the legislatures. Mrs. Guilford Dudley, Tennessee, in favoring a federal amendment, said that one of the objections heard to it was that it infringed on state rights.

She pointed out that many statesmen who oppose a federal suffrage amendment as an invasion of state rights favored the amendment electing senators by the people, the national prohibition amendment and the national child labor law, which she said are in the same class with regard to alleged infringement.

"And," she exclaimed, with uplifted arms, "President Wilson, the candidate of the democratic party for re-election, definitely said it gave him great pride to have signed the child labor bill."

The evening session of the convention was given over to listening to speeches by southern women. It was called "Dixie evening."

President Wilson will address the delegates tomorrow night.

ALLEGED MOB MEMBERS ARE INDICTED IN OHIO

Sixteen Charged With Participating in Storming Jail and Torturing Sheriff.

Lima, Ohio, September 7.—Sixteen alleged members of the mob which stormed the Allen county jail here last week in an attempt to lynch Charle Daniels, a negro, and tortured Sheriff Eley until he told where the prisoner was held, were indicted today. The list includes several business men. Thirteen of the sixteen have been arrested and are in the county jail under guard of 100 police and deputy sheriffs.

It is expected that 100 indictments will be returned.

Daniels, the alleged assailant of Mrs. John Baber, was brought last night from the county jail at Napoleon to this city and taken to the Lima City hospital, where he was identified by Mrs. Baber. It was announced that Daniels was not taken back to Napoleon but is secreted in some other jail. When the report was received last night that Daniels had been brought here a crowd gathered, but was dispersed quickly.

ASKS CONGRESS PROBE OF TRADE WITH CHINA

Washington, September 7.—Senator Hoke Smith today introduced a resolution for congressional investigation of commercial trade opportunities in China and the establishment of direct trade relations between the United States and that country.

A commission would visit principal cities of China and investigate manufacturing, commercial and agricultural opportunities and report to congress.

The resolution was referred to the foreign relations committee.

PENSION INCREASE GRANTED BY SENATE

Washington, September 7.—A bill giving to widows of officers or enlisted men who served in the civil or Mexican wars or the war of 1812, and who have reached the age of 70 years, pensions of $20 a month instead of the present $12 a month was passed today by the senate. It already has passed the house.

Widows of civil war soldiers dropped because of marriage to another person are restored to the roll by the bill.

ARCHIBALD H. DAVIS

Candidate for the LEGISLATURE

To the Voters of Fulton County:

I desire to ask of you a fair consideration of my candidacy for the legislature.

My ambition in this matter is in the line of distinct service to this community. I shall endeavor to make my sympathies and activities as broad as the need of the whole state, but the people and interest of this community are dear to me and shall have my especial care.

If elected, it will be my purpose to aid in strengthening the influence of Fulton county in the affairs of our state government. Fulton county does not have the prestige she ought to have. I assign no particular reason for this. I state the fact as it is. This condition is reflected in the formidable effort to remove the state capitol to Macon. The general public do not appreciate the strength of this movement and it must be fought in a vigorous, tactful, and diplomatic way. It is reflected, also, in the passage of an act by the last session to distribute convicts according to road mileage and not according to population or taxes. The result of this law will be to reduce Fulton county, that pays one-seventh of the taxes of the state, to the level of counties that do not pay one-hundredth part of this. This persistent injustice and inequality must not go on.

My experience and observation for many years leads me to believe that a service can be done in simplifying our laws, particularly the practice and procedure of our courts. There is too much waste, delay and expense in the administration of the law. Our officials are able but our system is antiquated and cumbersome.

In the disposition of the Western & Atlantic railroad, Fulton county and the City of Atlanta have some exceptional interests and claims that should be carefully guarded. I shall devote a great deal of study and attention to this most important question.

Your vote and influence is respectfully solicited.

ARCHIBALD H. DAVIS.

"FERTILIZER TRUST" OWNS SMALL FIRMS

Following Federal Probe, Large Concerns Agree in Future to Show Connection With "Independents."

Washington, September 7.—"Independent" firms in the fertilizer industry, actually operated by larger concerns, or the so-called "fertilizer trust," will hereafter be fully identified with the parent interests, according to a report made public today by the federal trade commission which has been investigating the fertilizer situation. The report says the companies concerned have agreed to show their various relationship on their containers and letter heads.

The commission's investigation was made in compliance with a resoluton introduced last year by Senator Simmons, of North Carolina, to whom farmers had complained regarding the high price of fertilizer, $150,000,000 worth of which was consumed by American farmers in 1914. In the letter of submittal to the senate, accompanying the report, the commission asserts that there are in the United States 800 concerns operating some 1,200 plants, but that seven of the large companies, the largest being the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company and the American Agricultural Chemical company, control 58 per cent. of the total output. It is asserted that the prices paid by farmers for mixed fertilizers have been high in comparsion with the cash value of the constituent elements, partly because of credit conditions and expensive distributing methods of the large companies.

Credit Conditions Bad.

"Credit conditions affecting farmers," the letter continues, "are so burdensome that some action, legislative or otherwise, should be taken to remedy them. Any action that would reduce the high interest rates on agricultural credits, particularly on short time loans, would tend to reduce the farmers' prices, both on fertilizer materials and mixed fertilizers."

By the practice of concealing the identity of controlled companies, which the commission has succeeded in having discontinued, the large corporations are said in the report to have been enabled to get more dealers in a given locality, and thus increase their sales to the detriment of the smaller competing concerns; in addition it has enabled them to benefit financially from business which they could not get under their own names, to sell to farmers who are dissatisfied with the same goods under a different name, to manipulate prices to the detriment of the small competitors and to be responsible, in part, for the absurd multiplication of brands."

Same Formula Used.

It is said in the letter that in one state, out of 185 brands of fertilizer registered, the American Agricultural Chemical company, registered in its own name and the name of subsidiaries, 101 brands, the same formula consequently being sold under numerous brand names.

In South Carolina the Virginia-Carolina Chemical company registered 71 brands of fertilizer, all of which were of substantially the same composition.

The companies which engaged in these practices told the federal investigators they did so because of the additional business secured thereby. The commission raises the question in its letter whether such practices constitute an unfair method of competition, in the sense of section 5 of the federal trade commission act, it being detrimental to competitors who do not employ them. Two of the large companies are said to have refrained from the now corrected practices on the ground that it was "objectionable business."

FRENCH AERIAL SERVICE PLAYS IMPORTANT PART

Paris, September 7.—The French aerial service took an active part in the recent actions on the Somme front, says a French official statement. In air fights yesterday two German machines were brought down by French pilots and four other German aeroplanes were forced to descend in damaged condition. The statement says:

"Aviation: Our air service took an active part in the actions of the past days on the Somme front, watching the movements of enemy infantry, carrying out bombardments in the rear of the German lines and attacking with machine guns troops on the march. Our machines armed with guns repeatedly bombarded the enemy's trenches.

"During air fights which took place yesterday two machines were brought down by our pilots. One fell in the direction of Guendecourt and the other in the neighborhood of Brie-En-Santerre. Four other German machines were forced to descend damaged.

LINDSEY HOPKINS NAMED DIRECTOR OF HIDE COMPANY

The election of Lindsey Hopkins, of this city, as a director of the American Hide and Leather company, of New York, announced Wednesday, brings into the limelight again a man who has made a big fortune in stocks since the European war began.

Financial men here say that Mr. Hopkins cleared $200,000 in his Norfolk and Western and Kelly-Springfield Rubber Tire ventures and he was one of the favored few who got the tip that International Mercantile Marin wasn't really dead. So when the stock of the company was selling for about four dollars a share he bought a thousand shares. Today it is quoted at 89 and the end is not yet.

Mr. Hopkins is an optimist about the future of the south, and so he bought cotton futures last march at 12 cents. The story of 16-cent cotton is not a new one now, and here again Mr. Hopkins made a tidy pile. Another flier which he took was in Southern railway stock in 1914, when that issue had gone down lower than at any time in its history. He is said to have cleared $80,000 on this deal.

A Notable Sale of Children's Coats

Savings Run From a Third to More Than a Half

This is the story—

We have some one hundred fifteen children's coats that remain from the spring stocks.

Seventy-five are in sizes two to seven years; forty in sizes eight to sixteen years.

Instead of clearing them away at the beginning of the hot weather, we preferred holding them until now, the beginning of the cool season, the beginning of school days.

They are such coats as will be necessary for the crisp days of Fall.

And they are priced in the way characteristic of Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. clearaways.

For instance:

Coats That Were $5.00, $6.50 to $13.50

Are Now $2.50, $3.75, $5.00 and $6.95

These are the two to seven-year sizes.

Materials are navy serges, black and white checks, novelty poplins and homespuns, a few taffetas in dark shades.

A wonderfully fine choice awaits those who do not delay their visit.

Coats That Were $7.50, $8.50, $9.50 to $17.50

Are Now $5.00 and $7.50.

These are the eight to sixteen-year sizes—and there are forty of them!

Navy serges, poplins and corduroys in many colors, chinchillas in white and fancy stripes, black and white checks.

A variety of styles that the young folk will like! Of that rest assured.

Fifty Middies That Were $1.00, $1.50 and $1.75

Are Now 59c and $1.00

An odd lot—or rather a group made up of odd middies; a few of this style, a few of that.

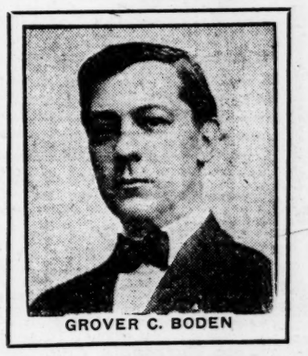

All sizes, six to twenty years.

All white and white with colored collars and cuffs.

Most of them have short sleeves.

After Vacation Peel Your Discolored Skin

Women returning from the seaside with browned, reddened or freckled complexions will be wise in immediately taking up the mercolized wax treatment. Weather-beaten skin had best come off, for no amount of "beautifying" will ever make such skin pretty to look at. The surest, safest, easiest way to shed the despoiled cuticle is with the treatment suggested. Put the wax on before retiring as you would cold cream, and rinse it off next morning with warm water. Minute particles of scarf skin will peel off day by day, gradually showing the healthy, youthful skin beneath. One ounce of mercolized wax, obtainable at any drug store, is enough to make any discolored or spotted complexion clear, white and satiny soft. Its action is so gentle no harm is caused and the face shows no trace of its use.

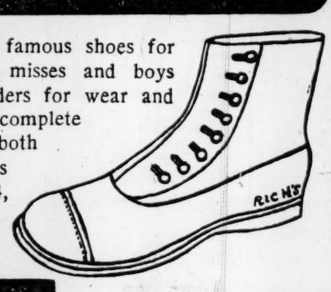

Burning heat, irritating winds and dirt are such wrinkle-makers that the daily use of the following astringent-tonic lotion at this season is highly advisable: Powdered saxolite, one ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, one-half pint. Used as a face bath this is a splendid wrinkle remover and preventive.

The ordinance provides that the license shall be operative for not less than one year when issued and shall be payable in advance. It is also not issued for less than one year and must be paid in advance. The object of the paper is to stop as far as possible the auctioneering of jewelry and other personal effects by traveling auctioneers who come to the city for only a short time.

LOVING TRIBUTES PAID TO LUMPKIN

Simple Exercises Held Thursday Afternoon in the Supreme Court Chamber. Funeral at Athens Saturday

FUNERAL ARRANGEMENTS.

The body of Justice Joseph Henry Lumpkin was taken from the capitol, where it had lain in state the greater part of the day, last night to the Terminal station and placed on a Seaboard train leaving for Athens at 8:30 o'clock. There it was taken to the home of the deceased's brother, E. K. Lumpkin. The funeral will be held at the First Presbyterian church in Athens tomorrow morning at 11:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Oconee cemetery. Justices Beverly D. Evans and H. Warner Hill were selected by the supreme court as an honorary escort from that body to attend the funeral. Either Judge Nash R. Broyles or Judge Peyton L. Wade will go from the court of appeals. Members of the Atlanta bar and other friends of the deceased who wish to attend the funeral can leave on a Seaboard train at 7 o'clock Saturday morning, arriving in Athens about an hour before the time scheduled for the funeral. They can return on a train in the afternoon of the same day.

Tributes of love and respect from those who knew him best were paid to Justice Joseph Henry Lumpkin as man, scholar, jurist, citizen and friend, in the simple exercises held in the supreme court chamber shortly after 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, while the body of the departed judge lay in state before the bar of the court, as a distinguished member of which he had for eleven years served the people of the state he loved faithfully and well.

In the audience which comfortably filled the small courtroom were only those who had known the dead statesman many years and who had their minds stored with memories of his splendid qualities of mind and heart. A deep feeling of personal grief permeated all, and when the speakers found it difficult to restrain their emotion there was scarcely a dry eye to be seen among those who heard.

Chair Draped in Black.

There were his associates on the bench of our two highest courts in their accustomed seats, with one vacant chair draped in black to commemorate their loss; there were the Ten club, the little coterie of choice spirits of whom the deceased had been one of the most valued members; there were the comrades of his college days represented by the alumni of his fraternity; there were the ladies to whom he had been bound by the double ties of blood and long, intimate social relations. It was all as he would have had it could he have been present and arranged the services himself.

The exercises were opened when the judges entered from the door behind the bench, and Chief Justice W. H. Fish, after a few introductory remarks expressive of the grief of the bench and bar of the state, called upon the Rev. Dr. Henry A. Porter, of the Second Baptist church, to lead in prayer.

Following the prayer, the Rev. Dr. Dunbar Ogden, of the Central Presbyterian church, of which church the deceased had been a regular attendant, delivered a brief address. Dr. Ogden read from the Scripture the qualifications laid down by Moses for a judge and showed how Judge Lumpkin had measured fully up in his career as a jurist to the specifications of Holy Writ. There were four requirements, he said, natural ability, learning, fairness and incorruptibility, and Justice Lumpkin had been prominent in them all.

The second speaker was Z. D. Harrison, clerk of the supreme court, who had been intimately associated with the deceased from the time that, as a young man of 22, he had entered the public service as assistant supreme court reporter. Mr. Harrison said that he had never known a more loyal and faithful public servant and that, like others of his distinguished predecessors in the high office he filled, he had given his life to his sense of duty. He died from overwork. His very last thoughts had been of the tasks which the people had laid on him. He had actually dictated an opinion from his death bed. Such had been his fidelity to the heavy responsibilties under which he had patiently toiled.

Henry Peeples' Tribute.

Henry C. Peeples, who, in addition to being a kinsman of the deceased, had been a most intimate friend, was the third man called upon by Chief Justice Fish. Mr. Peeples said that it was with great difficulty that he could restrain his emotions sufficiently to say anything so soon after the fearful blow which he had suffered.

"Our friend," he continued, "was not only a good assistant reporter, a good reporter, a good superior court judge and a good supreme court judge, but he was pre-eminent in each of these capacities. In every position he gave his best and only those who could appreciate the best were able to judge the full measure of Mr. Justice Lumpkin's excellence.

The Rev. Dr. John F. Purser spoke as the representative of the Ten club. He said that the deceased had encountered the mightiest problems that confronted a thinker, had fought out battles in his own mind, and had reached solutions on many things which the world never knew anything about. He dwelt on the judge's growing fondness for the Bible which he had come to study and appreciate more fully in his later years.

Judge Nash Broyles delivered a brief eulogy on behalf of the appeals court, quoting and applying to the dead man the tribute which Senator Ben Hill had paid to Lee.

Justice Evans' Tribute.

The last speaker was the presiding justice of the supreme court, Beverly D. Evans. Of all the members of the court he had probably been on terms of greatest intimacy with Judge Lumpkin. He read the following brief tribute to the man he had known so well and loved:

"The occasion is one of unspeakable sadness. Death has removed from the company of his friends one of the knightliest of men. I speak not of the loss which the great commonwealth has sustained. Nor will I allude to his distinguished talent as a jurist. These eulogiums are reserved for another time when formal action will be taken in memorial of the great worth he has been to the state.

"I speak as a friend, as one who was favored with his confidence and loving friendship. For eleven years we labored in adjoining offices with an intervening open door. During this time our association had been close, cordial and confidential. Judge Lumpkin loved the supreme court, its judges and officials with that fervor and devotion which a husband showers upon his loving helpmate. When the hand of affliction fell upon a member of this court he always responded to lighten his burdens. His help was given generously and with a prodigality almost to the snapping point of physical and mental endurance.

"If I was called upon to give his ruling passion I would unhesitatingly say that it was devotion to duty. It mattered not whether the task was pleasant or embarrassing, or that the labor of doing it was burdensome. Physical pain did not weaken his resolution. Only the day before his death, while in the hospital, he dictated a short opinion in a case which had been decided in consultation on the last work day before he took his bed.

"His devotion to his brother and his brother's family was such as could only come from love, pure and undefiled. On last Saturday he journeyed to Athens to spend the Sabbath in that peaceful and hospitable home. Oppressed with the overwhelming labor of his work, he sought and found the strength and comfort which comes from association with loved ones. Little did the queenly matron of that household think just a few days ago that the dark shadow of death was hovering over the head of one for whom she cherished such sisterly affection. His death throws a pall of sadness and sorrow over the home of his loved ones.

"His charities and benefactions were liberal and numerous. He shared in every movement for the uplift of the community with a spirit of most beautiful altruism. But he has gone out from us. Your friend and my friend has crossed over the river and is resting under the trees, after a life resplendent in kindness, good purposes and well doing. We mourn his passing the bar, but we feel that he rests in the glorious beyond.

"As the spokesman of the supreme court I bear tribute to the princely qualities of our deceased brother. We shall miss him; yes, his place is in our hearts, and so long as life shall last we will cherish his memory. Close association and comradeship cement friendship. The daily association of the judges of this court creates an intimacy which begets confidences and kindles affection. Judge Lumpkin never lacked appreciation of earth's beauty nor failed to express it; he always looked for the best in others and gave them the best he had. His life was an inspiration and his memory will be a benediction."

Bowden Pays Tribute.

At the conclusion of the exercises, J. Wightman Bowden, the dead jurist's secretary, asked for permission to say a few words. He enumerated a number of instances which had come to his attention in the course of his long, intimate association with Judge Lumpkin, illustrative of his goodness of heart and of his fondness for children. He said that the judge never forgot a person whom he had favored or from whom he had received a benefit.

The body of Judge Lumpkin was taken from Patterson's chapel at noon Thursday and carried to the capitol, escorted by the judges of the supreme court, the court of appeals, the judges of the superior court of Fulton county and state house officials.

Early in the day a proclamation was issued by order of Governor Harris directing that the flags on public buildings in the state be put at half-mast for thirty days; that all offices in the capitol be closed during the time that the body lay in state and during the final burial services in Athens, and that such state house officials as could should accompany the body to Athens as an honorary escort.

In order to pay tribute to Judge Lumpkin, the lawyers of the Atlanta bar assembled in the court room of Judge Pendleton in the morning. Sitting with Judge Pendleton on the bench were Judges Ellis, Hill, Reid and Calhoun and Ordinary Jeffries.

After an eloquent eulogy of the dead man by Alex C. King a motion was carried that the bar association attend the funeral at Athens at 11:30 o'clock Saturday. Judge Pendleton announced that he would later appoint a committee to draw up resolutions on the death of the distinguished jurist.

As a token of respect, all of the courts in Atlanta holding their sessions in the courthouse, were adjourned until Monday morning.

Grandson of Chief Justice.

The late Judge Joseph Henry Lumpkin was tenderly devoted to the memory of his grandfather for whom he was named, the late Joseph Henry Lumpkin, Georgia's first chief justice.

One of his last acts just before he was taken ill was to give a commission to Charles Frederick Naegele, the distinguished New York artist, for the portrait of his grandfather which he intended to present to the new law school of Emory university. One of the last letters he wrote was one introducing the artist to the chancellor of the university, that the latter might aid in securing photographs as studies. The letter was characteristically simple and direct. In part it was:

"Dear Dave: This will introduce to you Mr. Charles Frederick Naegele, who will paint my grandfather's portrait. I wish him to see the one which hangs in the library of the university, or one of the halls," and so the letter continued.

Judge Lumpkin had given the subject thoughtful consideration. He had talked with his cousin, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, who had suggested that Mr. Naegele be chosen. Others were similarly confident of the artist's ability. When the decision was finally reached, Judge Lumpkin remarked: "I could have had the portrait done for less than yours will cost, Mr. Naegele, but my grandfather is a great subject, and worthy a great portrait."

The Naegele portraits which so impressed Judge Lumpkin were those just finished of Mrs. Jack J. Spalding, of Atlanta, and Colonel G. Gunby Jordan, of Columbus.

During the summer many improvements have been made. The equipment of the physical laboratory has been very much increased. New teachers have been added to the faculty to meet the demands made by the large increase in the student body.

ED INMAN MAY SECURE POLICE BOARD PLACE

Reported Eighth Ward Councilman Will Be Candidate for Commission.

Ed Inman, member of council from the eighth ward, will run for the police board of commissioners to succeed Robert C. Clarke, whose term expires with four other commissioners next March, according to the politicians who know things.

Commissioner Clarke has been a member of the police board for six years, two terms, and by the law is not allowed to succeed himself. Councilman Inman's term in council expires January 1, and he will be eligible for a seat on the police commission in March.

Two new faces will be seen on the police board in January. One will be Asa G. Candler, ex-officio member by virtue of his office as mayor. The other will be the member of council who is named by Mr. Candler as chairman of the police committee of council, who is also an ex-officio member of the police commission. This position is now held by Councilman Johnson, who retires from council in January.

Besides Commissioner Clarke's berth on the police board there will be four other regular positions vacant next March, when a general reorganization will take effect. Commissioner Chairman Andy R. King's term of three years as the representative from the ninth ward will expire. He will stand for re-election. According to rumors he will have opposition. "Bob" Holland, who was elected on Lowry's ticket for sheriff, will vacate his seat on the police board and a successor must be elected by council from the tenth ward. J. C. Wardlaw was recently nominated on Mr. Collier's ticket for chief of construction of Atlanta, and his seat will be vacant. Commissioner R. T. Pace, of the seventh ward, it is understood, will stand for re-election.

JOSEPH HENRY LUMPKIN.

Justice Joseph Henry Lumpkin, of the state supreme court, whose unexpected and sudden death will be deplored, was the second of that name to occupy distinguished position upon the bench of the state's highest court.

The first chief justice of the supreme court of Georgia was Joseph Henry Lumpkin, grandfather of the late justice, and the grandson had no higher ambition than to follow in the footsteps of his distinguished ancestor.

It was his foremost aim and purpose to live the life and parallel the career of the first chief justice; and he did it in all but the attainment of the chief justiceship upon the supreme bench, of which for eleven years he has been a distinguished, hard-working and efficient member.

There is no doubt that if Joseph Henry Lumpkin had lived his allotted years he would have achieved the goal of his ambition; but he was stricken in the prime of life, in spite of his well-known temperate habits.

Justice Lumpkin was a worthy representative of one of Georgia's most illustrious families. His mind turned to the judicial; and he was by temperament and ability peculiarly fitted for service on the bench. In superior and supreme courts he served Georgia for twenty-three years; and there are no safer or sounder decisions construing the law of the state than those written over his signature. These decisions and the service he has rendered the state will live for many years; he fulfilled the mission of his distinguished grandfather in all but name only—that of chief justice; for nowhere upon the rolls of all Georgia's highest judges will there be found a name which signifies more in the careful and accurate construction of the written law.

There is no one who knew him or knew of him who will not read or hear of the death of Justice Lumpkin with feelings of regret at the loss to the state of such a man.

YOUNG ATLANTA ABROAD.

If any evidence were needed of the ability of Young Atlanta to take care of the city's reputation and laurels, 14-year-old Bob Jones had abundantly furnished it on the Merion links at Haverford, Pa.

Bob Jones, son of Robert T. Jones, of Atlanta, and Perry Adair went to the national golf tournament at Haverford as Atlanta's representatives. Regardless of age or golf experience, none abler or better equipped could have been chosen.

Perry Adair, 17 years old, won out in the first round against international champions, and sustained his reputation well won here at home and in many southern tournaments.

Bobby Jones has proven the golf hero of the year, of the decade. Fresh from southern victories at Birmingham and Knoxville, he did not hesitate to enter the lists against world champions, and after entering he went to work to beat them all, and for the last half day of the contest had even the much older American champion at his heels.

"The Georgia wonder child," as he has been termed by Haverford golf enthusiasts, went to the finals with a lead over Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago, the national champion, losing by a bare scratch.

His wonderful performance entitles him to a recognition upon his return home which we are confident Atlanta golfers will accord.

It should be an inspiration to "Young Atlanta" in the matter of civic service. The boy, the future citizen, can do big and important things right now. Youth should afford no reason for hesitation. All of them can't be national champions, but all can serve and serve well just by constant and persistent effort.

Bob Jones didn't become a golf champion in a day; it was constant effort and practice, combined with the advantage of youth, that put him to the fore.

There are lots of ways in which young Atlantans can help, if they will get busy and stick to it.

Atlanta needs more Bob Joneses and Perry Adairs. They are the kind of stuff that build good cities and keep them to the forefront.

GEORGIA WILL SHARE.

According to information from Secretary of Agriculture Houston, Georgia will share in the distribution of the federal good roads fund, under the act passed at the recent session of the legislature creating a state highway commission, composed of the members of the state prison commission, the state geologist, and the professors of engineering at the University of Georgia and Georgia Tech.

There is no one to whom this information is more welcome than to The Constitution. The one thing for which The Constitution fought when the legislature was in session was to get a bill which would pass muster with the federal authorities, and enable the state to secure the approximately $2,000,000 coming to it under the federal good roads act.

The measure was read and passed upon by Logan Waller Page, director of the good roads bureau of the national department of agriculture, and his view was that Georgia could not hope to get by with it. Under the circumstances, decision of the national department of agriculture that it is satisfactory and will answer the purpose as to the distribution of the federal fund is more than welcome.

Any road projects taken up to be accomplished through federal aid must be submitted to and approved by the national department of agriculture. There are plenty of opportunities in Georgia for such improvement, and it is now up to the commission to make proper selection, and get the most important done first.

If the measure has achieved the particular object sought and put Georgia on the list for her proportionate share of the federal good roads fund, it has made a good beginning.

THE KAISER IN A NEW ROLE.

The German papers give a pleasing picture of the kaiser in a peaceful field; that is, it is pleasing to his people, and for himself it varies the monotony of the red fields of the fighters. It is that of Germany's ruler as a harvest hand, and is thus given in a Berlin dispatch to The New York Sun:

> He takes off his coat and in his shirt sleeves the supreme head of the German empire begins to work in the field. A cheerful smile illuminates his majesty's face, deeply furrowed by the cares of war and of years. The hot perspiration streams from his brow at such work. With surprise, onlookers perceive his majesty is wiping with his sleeves the sweat from his forehead.
> Lo! We see another beautiful picture. His majesty sits down on the ground amidst his faithful Silesian people and drinks fresh water out of a common jug!

That's the other side of the stern war lord, and, it is said, temporarily sharing the labors of his toiling subjects is by no means unusual with him.

And a fine effect it has on them, and is such a relief from the mowing down of men in millions to really lend a helping hand to humanity!

But he knows that the mowing down process isn't interfered with by his innocent absence; that fields are still being "made fertile with the blood of men" for the harvests of the future—no matter into whose victorious hands they ultimately fall.

It may be well for all the kings and princes of war-wrecked Europe to learn the lesson of getting down to the people as early as possible; for it is the lesson they will have to learn, foreshadowed by a war which was not of the people's seeking.

THE AERIAL LIMITED.

The time is coming when efficiency in aviation will not be confined to the few. "Get ready to fly" is the advice of Leslie's, in an article on the development of the aeroplane on an extensive scale, combining both freight and passenger service.

Leslie's considers that the outlook for aerial transportation is so favorable, it is predicted that within five years the aeroplane will be in common use:

> It will be brought within the reach of men of moderate means so as to afford them a ready vehicle of transportation from their city to their summer homes. The interesting fact is noted by President Edward M. Hagar, of the Wright company, that he has recently received a request for estimates on ten aeroplanes, each of three-ton freight capacity, with which valuable ore from an inaccessible mine is to be carried from the mountains to a convenient shipping point. The part that the aeroplane is playing in the great European war astonishes all observers and must inevitably lead, at the close of the war, to a wider utilization of the aeroplane in peaceful pursuits.

In that day the suburbanite will not have to go at breakneck speed to catch the morning train, and with every owner of a flying machine a skilled aviator, there would be less danger from aerial clashes than from auto collisions on crowded highways.

It is an alluring prospect in a pleasurable sense, as well as a profitable one—if only an aerial trust doesn't put a premium on space!

In every speech the republican candidate says nothing like he means it.

The Colonel's voice is that of one crying in the wilderness, but the trees don't bow down to it.

Just think of the spoils the victorious European belligerents will have to fight over!

"There is a scarcity of dollar bills." (That gets in, but it isn't news.)

Anyway, in his pictures, King Constantine has the appearance of the man of the family.

However, the fear of a railway strike gave all the tired vacationists a good excuse to rush home and rest up.

Carranza slides out of one trouble, and immediately tries to borrow $300,000,000.

JUST From GEORGIA By FRANK L. STANTON.

Kiss Goodnight.

I.

Kiss goodnight now, little one,
You are tired, and would rest;
Day says farewell to the Sun
And the bird flies to its nest.
When the evening shadows fall
Home's the sweetest place for all.

II.

With the roses, all day long,
With the singing winds at play;
Sweet it is, at evening-song,
On Love's breast your head to lay.
Kiss goodnight now, in your place,
Smiling in a mother's face.

III.

We are children—all, that roam
In the world's ways, dark or bright,
But the memory of Home
Brings us there in Life's last night.
There, in trustful love we'll rest,
Children—on a mother's breast.

The Rim of the Earth.

Here is a specimen of the New Poetry, by Robert Carlton Brown, in Bruno's Weekly:

"Give me your hand, oh, dearest, and we'll run 'round the rim of the earth drawing oxygen deep into our lungs until our cheeks are aflame.
We'll laugh and love on the way; clutching
at stars, sliding down flaming streaks left by shooting meteors; two children on a balustrade.
Shouting our joy from bursting throats,
kicking off our shoes and racing the length of glaciers, our hot feet leaving melted spots as we run.
Kicking up the burning sands of deserts,
cooling our skin in clinging fogs.
Two big, free human beings, with our bits in our teeth, tossing our heads, shaking free of fettering reins."

The above isn't exactly the limit, for recently, in the same magazine, a poet expressed a desire to eat "raw, live flesh!"

Mistress Autumn.

I.

Hasten, Mistress Autumn,
In gold and silver gown,
Queen of all the movies
That ever came to town!
From the glory-vested trees
Shake the spangles down!

II.

Hasten, Mistress Autumn,
To your kingdom fair,
With a host of lovers
From the Everywhere.
We'll catch the stars at hide-and-seek
In tangles of your hair.

The Heathen Version.

The London Times gives this version of "Tipperary," as sung by the black soldiers fighting with the French and English:

"He roa te wa ki Tipirere,
He tino mamao,
He roa te wa ki Tipirere,
Ki taku kotiro
E noho pikatiri,
Hei kona rehita koea,
He mamao rawa Tipirere
Ka tae ahua."

Though the song has practically been abandoned by the English soldiers, the dark-skinned fighters like the tune, and keep it going.

"Overshadowed."

Tennyson J. Daft, of The Kansas City Star, has been sizing up the war in Europe with this result:

"On war torn Europe's fatal fields, where men are doing battle,
Slaughtered and slain at kings' behests like
poor, dumb, driven cattle,
The fighting makes our Gettysburg seem like some crossroads function,
And Bull Run like a festival pulled off at

Loyal to the party, under difficulties, Colonel George Bailey makes this charitable note:

Fair Stockholders Meet Next Thursday

"Stockholders' day" will be observed at the Southeastern Fair grounds at Lakewood Thursday afternoon.

At that time the executive committee, which has been handling the affairs of the fair, will give those who have backed the gigantic enterprise an account of their stewardship.

This was decided Thursday afternoon at an executive council session, following an inspection of the grounds and buildings. The work on the grounds and the plans for the exposition, October 14-21, inclusive, are in such shape that the executive council feels the stockholders should have an opportunity of seeing what has been done and hearing what is proposed.

Members of city council, the county commissioners and presidents of the various civic and trades organizations are invited to meet with the stockholders and officials Thursday. The crowd will assemble at the city hall at 3 o'clock. Automobiles will be in waiting to convey the party to Lakewood and through the grounds.

The details for the meeting will be handled by a committee appointed by Ivan E. Allen, president of the association, after the executive council session. This committee is composed of F. J. Paxon, chairman; Leon Walker, Charles A. Smith, L. J. Daniel, Palmer Blackburn, St. Elmo Massengale and J. L. Baldwin.

It is the purpose to take the stockholders and guests over the grounds, show them the vast amount of work that has been accomplished to get the property in shape for the fair, and then unfold the plans for the future.

After the inspection, the party will assemble in one of the huge buildings. The affairs of the association will be thoroughly discussed.

During the afternoon refreshments will be served. Talks of not more than two minutes' duration will probably be made by some of the officers. The executive committee is delighted with the progress of the work and the prospects for making the first fair a great success.

THE DAY'S GRIST FROM THE STATE POLITICAL MILL

HARRIS' HEADQUARTERS SILENT AS TO DR. HARDMAN'S CARD

The card of Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, candidate for governor, published in Thursday's Constitution, referring to Governor Harris and charging political trickery to his campaigners, elicited no denial from Governor Harris' campaign managers.

Calvin Parker, manager of Governor Harris' campaign, stated that "after thinking it over we have decided we do not want to make any reply to the card."

SECRETARY MASSENGALE FINDS TROUBLE IN LOCATING CHAIRMEN

Owing to the fact that a number of counties have elected new county executive committees, St. Elmo Massengale, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, is experiencing considrable difficulty in getting the ballot forms, election blanks and other data to the proper county party authorities. As secretary of the state committee, Mr. Massengale is intrusted with the duty of sending to the chairman of each county committee a form of the state ballot, election blanks and instructions for making reports. He has sent these out to the committee chairmen shown on the list filed with the state committee, all such matter having been sent out ten days ahead of the primary according to the rules, but he has since received a number of inquiries from committee officials not on his list at all, having been elected without any report of the change having been made to the state committee.

"I have had to spend $100 or more in telegraph and long distance telephone tolls to get these details straightened out," he said "It is very important that I have information as to previously unreported changes in county committees at the earliest possible moment. I hope that such charmen as may not have received their ballot forms and other data will communicate with me at the earliest possible moment."

BIG DORSEY CLUB ENROLLED AT ALANTIC STEEL PLANT

A big and enthusiastic Dorsey club has been enrolled at the Atlantic Steel company's plant.

It was reported Thursday that out of 194 registered voters employed at the steel plant 192 have enrolled as members of the Dorsey club, and will vote to elect Hugh M. Dorsey governor.

WILSON IS SURE WINNER, SAYS SENATOR HARDWICK

That President Wilson is sure to be elected to succeed himself next November was the view of the presidential campaign expressed by United States Senator Thomas W. Hardwick, who passed through Atlanta Thursday, en route to his home at Sandersville, where he will spend a few days resting.

Senator Hardwick expects to go to Indiana, October 1, and make several speeches in behalf of President Wilson's candidacy, after which he will speak for him in Montana and then go to New York state to aid in the Wilson campaign there. He stated that there is a strong possibility of carrying New York against Hughes, and that it is certain that Indiana and New Jersey will be found in the democratic column this year.

HUGH DORSEY A BIG LEADER IN TEST BALLOTS

A straw ballot taken in Harris county yesterday by L. M. Sumner resulted as follows: Dorsey, 67; Hardman, 16; Harris, 22; Pottle, 4.

Another straw ballot taken on a train from Macon to Brunswick resulted: Dorsey, 116; Hardman, 22; Harris, 28; Pottle, 6.

L. J. Hughes, for the purpose of forming a Dorsey club, saw ninety-five voters in his town of Oakwood, Hall county, Georgia, and eighty-five of them joined the club. Of 125 voters in the precinct he says 115 will be for Dorsey.

A. H. Woodliff, of Flowery Branch, reports a straw ballot taken on an Atlanta-bound train as follows: Dorsey, 118; Hardman, 66; Harris, 30; Pottle, 3.

SMITH SPEAKS FOR HARDMAN AT CARROLLTON COURTHOUSE

Carrollton, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—Colonel R. L. J. Smith, of Commerce, Ga., addressed about 100 citizens here this morning at the county courthouse in the interest of Dr. L. G. Hardman. The speaker reviewed Dr. Hardman's career as a physician and legislator, stating that he was undoubtedly the most eminently qualified man in the race, and predicted that he would be Georgia's next governor. Mr. Smith spoke at Banning and Lowell this afternoon.

The Rev. Will D. Upshaw will speak in the interest of Dr. Hardman at Villa Rica, Temple, Bowdon and Bowdon Junction tomorrow.

DUBLIN WILL HEAR SPEECHES FROM CANDIDATES AND FRIENDS

Dublin, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—There will be a sufficiency of campaign speeches in this city for the week, for both gubernatorial and congressional candidates.

Hon. John T. Boifeuillet spoke in Dublin Tuesday morning in behalf of Governor Harris. Saturday, Andrew W. Lane will speak to the voters on behalf of Governor Harris, and also, on the same day, Hon. J. Pope Brown will make an address in behalf of Hon. Dudley M. Hughes, candidate for re-election to congress. Mr. Hughes will also address the voters in Dublin on that day. The congressional race and the governor's race are about to overshadow every other race in this entire district.

HARDMAN SPEAKS IN DOUGLAS, TO VOTERS OF COFFEE COUNTY

Douglas, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—Dr. L. G. Hardman addressed the voters of Coffee county today during the noon recess of superior court in session here. A large and attentive audience greeted him. Repetition of charges by other candidates that he claimed authorship of a number of bills passed by legislature with which he had nothing to do, took up a good part of the speech. The governorship as a business proposition was his main theme. His connection with agricultural, banking and manufacturing interests was urged to show his fitness to deal with all classes.

He favored a state highway commission and commended the recently enacted highway law. Dr. Hardman spoke this morning at Pearson and this afternoon at Nicholls, both in this county, and later at Alma, in Bacon county.

HARRIS TALKS TO VOTERS OF TIFT COUNTY THURSDAY

Tifton, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—A large crowd met Governor Harris at Nashville, where he spoke this morning. The governor left Nashville for Tifton by auto, and was delayed an hour and a half on the road by the delegations that met him at Adel, Sparks and Lenox, where he made short talks. The student body of Sparks Collegiate institute came out to greet the governor when he passed through that town, and he stopped to make a talk to the young men and women. At Lenox he was met by a delegation in autos from Tifton and escorted to the city, where the local chapter Daughters of the Confederacy, Tift County Camp Veterans and the Tifton band playing "Dixie," met him at the courthouse. After the speech the governor left at 8:33 o'clock for Sylvester, where he speaks tomorrow.

ATLANTA HAS BOYS' HIGH SCHOOL SECOND TO NONE IN THE SOUTH

Professor W. F. Dykes, principal of the Boys' High school and who is also supervising principal of all of the city high schools, has announced that registration of pupils in the Boys' High has progressed so rapidly during the week that the school will be completely filled at the opening next Monday.

This school will be materially strengthened this year over what it has been at any previous period in its history, although its past record has been a distinguishing one. For one thing, plans are being made to strengthen the history and civics course materially, but at the same time, the requirements for graduation will not be increased.

The Boys' High is one of the few preparatory schools in the state on the accredited list of all southern colleges; and graduates from it in the past have won distinction in such northern colleges and universities as Harvard, Yale and Princeton. The majority of those graduating from it last year have been admitted to the leading colleges of the south upon their certificates of graduation from this school.

For the convenience of the public the official college entrance examinations are held annually at the Boys' High school. The institution has a state-wide reputation for the excellence of its work in debating, and the annual school debates, held in December in the Auditorium-Armory, always have attracted wide attention.

Last year the enrollment of the school reached 450, the highest in its history, and provisions have been made for the accommodation of at least 500 students during the school year about to begin. The applications to date come up practically to that number, and many more are in prospect.

Despite the fact that the school was hampered for the lack of funds, through the failure of council to make the required appropriation for the school, the faculty is commendably optimistic and imbued with a determination to make the best of the equipment on hand. This, while not what the school department of the city had hoped for, is of a higher standard than the equipment of any other high school in the state.

In the Boys' High school two courses are on the curriculum—classical and scientific. The enrollment for this year shows about an equal division of preference between the two among the prospective student body.

The faculty this year will be made up of seventeen instructors, and all of the highest ability. Since last year three new members have been added to the teaching staff.

During the vacation period an unusually great number of the members of the faculty have better equipped themselves by patronizing the summer courses in eastern and northern colleges and univirsities. Among these Professors F. R. Mason, J. H. Montgomery, Irvin Ennis, T. C. Kimball and J. K. Fancher took post-graduate courses in departmental work in the University of Chicago, and Professor H. S. Harvard did similar work at Columbia university.

Not only is this school patronized by many of the best families in Atlanta, but this year the number of non-resident applicants is unusually great, attesting the fact that the reputation for efficiency of the school has spread generally throughout the state. An earnest effort will be made to accommodate all of the non-resident applicants, but to do this the capacity of the school will be taxed to the limit.

ROBERT B. BLACKBURN TO SPEAK AT THE GRAND THEATER TONIGHT

Robert B. Blackburn, representative from Fulton county in the Georgia house, promises an interesting political session tonight at the Grand opera house, when he delivers his principal speech against Congressman William Schley Howard in his campaign for nomination to congress from the Fifth Georgia district.

The speaking will begin at 8 o'clock and will be presided over by Walter P. Andrews, a fellow member from Fulton in the Georgia house. A large crowd is expected.

Mr. Blackburn declared Thursday that, after reviewing and defending his own record of ten years in the Georgia house, he proposed to take up the record of Congressman Howard when the latter was a member from DeKalb, which record, says Mr. Blackburn, is remarkable largely for non-attendance upon and indifference to the deliberations of the general assembly.

Mr. Blackburn further alleges that when Mr. Howard went to congress his alleged habit of staying away from the legislative halls followed him to such a degree that it constitutes a lack of faithfulness in public office, and that he proposes to show this. He will also go into Mr. Howard's record as a prohibitionist, which, he declared, is distinguished by its inconsistences. He declares that there will be an expose of further delinquencies which he lays to Mr. Howard's account.

In reviewing his platform, Mr. Blackburn stated that he will explain the present necessity for a free state, free church and free press; that he will elucidate the plan by which he proposes to secure free school books for children in Georgia's public schools. Mr. Blackburn stated that he is a strong advocate of the absolute separation of the state and the church, and says that insidious inroads that are being made upon constitution safeguards now constitute the greatest menace which threatens American liberty today.

For the faithfulness with which he has served Fulton county and the citizens of Atlanta, Mr. Blackburn will ask the people of Fulton to reciprocate by giving him this county.

There will be an imposing body of leading citizens upon the stage. Ladies are especially invited to attend the meeting.

Friends Are Planning To Give Big Majority To Spencer Atkinson

Judge Spencer R. Atkinson is the only member of the Fulton delegation in the present Georgia house of representatives who is seeking re-election, and his numerous friends are planning to give him a big majority. Aside from his marked ability, his friends advance the reason that of all the candidates running for representative from Fulton in the coming primary, Judge Atkinson is the only candidate who could go back with the prestige lent only by previous service in the house. This, they believe, is of very material importance to Fulton.

Judge Atkinson is admittedly one of the "heavy weights" of the house. He is a man of judgment and conviction and has the courage of his convictions, and is, withal, a man of few speeches.

Judge Atkinson occupies the very unique position in the house of representing the transition from the old school of Georgia statesmen to the new school. A splendid tribute and indication of the esteem in which the house holds him was the touching welcome given him when, after a brief illness, he appeared in the house for the first time a few days after the opening of the recently-adjourned session of the general assembly.

Many Women Lawyers In Georgia Before Long, Account of Recent Law

Evidences are accumulating that within two or three years at least Georgia will have a fairly good crop of women lawyers as a result of the recent enactment by the legislature of the woman lawyer bill. Law schools all over the state which admit women to their classes are already receiving numerous applications from young Georgia women who want to try their luck and ability at the bar.

The Atlanta Law school has already received applications from some ten Georgia women for admission to the fall term classes. The majority of these live in and near Atlanta, although several will come from other sections of the state. They are undeterred by the fact that all the classes of the school are held at night and some of them will take advantage of the opportunity which this gives to make themselves self-supporting while they are securing their legal training.

"We have always been glad to have women in the Atlanta Law school," said Dean Hamilton Douglas, "and it is a well-known fact that several women graduates from this school took the most prominent part in urging the enactment of the new law admitting women to the Georgia bar. The fact that the classes are held at night does not seem to worry them in the least where they are determined to secure a legal education and make their own way. We shall be glad to have all that want to come."

Georgia to Share in Federal Funds for Highway Work

Official information was received yesterday morning by the state highway commission in a letter from Secretary of Agriculture David F. Houston to the effect that the Georgia law had been found to conform to the requirements of the government so that that state may receive its pro rata part of the federal appropriation. This amounts to about $2,000,000 to be distributed over a period of five years.

Chairman R. E. Davison and Commissioner Rainey, who were in the office at the time the information was received, expressed their delight that all doubt had been dispelled as to Georgia's participating in the federal fund.

Records to Be Broken By School Attendance

Registration in Atlanta public schools will exceed 26,000 pupils this fall, according to estimates made yesterday by Major E. J. Guinn, president of the board of education.

"It's going to be the biggest year in numbers of children applying for admittance to the schools in the history of public schools in Atlanta," said Major Guinn. "We are going to be very crowded. Many of the schools for weeks have been forced to turn away pupils, sending them blocks and blocks to other schools."

At the board of education's offices in the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce building hundreds of parents and guardians of children are applying for admittance for their children and wards every day. The entire force of the board of education is working at full speed.

Schools open next Monday.

Coton Expert Predicts Sixteen-Cent Staple Before End of May

Expressing his surprise at the action of the Association of State Farmers' unions at their recent meeting in New Orleans, when they "fixed" the minimum price of cotton at 12 cents per pound, William A. Shelton, of Athens, has written the following letter to The Constitution. Mr. Shelton is a graduate of the University of Chicago, where he has just completed a two-year course on marketing. Mr. Shelton also is the author of a paper on cotton prices and changes which covers the history of the cotton crop of America for the past ten years.

His letter follows:

September 7, 1916.

Editor Constitution: Under date of September 6 a special letter from New Orleans reads as follows:

"The annual meeting of the Association of State Farmers' unions' presidents, which has just closed here, fixed 12 cents per pound as the minimum price of cotton, and urged that all bankers, merchants and business interests of the south co-operate in maintaining this price in order that the cotton industries of the south might be placed upon a stable basis."

Do the presidents of the State Farmers' unions think that united action of the farmers will be necessary to prevent cotton from being marketed at less than 12 cents during the coming season? What is the outlook for cotton prices for 1916-17? In 1914 the world's production of cotton was almost 25,000,000 500-pound net bales. The war began immediately before the harvesting of this large crop, and yet prices remained below 8 cents for only some two months. In 1915 the world's production was only 18,500,000 bales, a reduction of more than six million bales. This crop was marketed at from 11 to 13½ cents, notwithstanding the large carry-over from the previous year, and not including the August prices, which ranged from 13 to 17 cents.

How does the present outlook compare with that of last year as to prices? In the first place, we are continuing the recovery from the disturbance in cotton consumption due to the war. The cotton spindleage of the world outside of the war zone is increasing steadily to meet the large and increasing demand for cotton goods. The consumption of cotton is increasing.

In the second place, the American production for this year is now estimated at less than 12,000,000 bales by the United States department of agriculture. That is, this year's crop is almost as small as that of last year. Two short crops have fallen together. Last year's production of American cotton was slightly more than 11,000,000 bales, and the consumption almost 15,000,000 bales. This year's crop will be less than 12,000,000 bales and the consumption would be 15,000,000 bales if the cotton were available at from 12 to 14 cents.

What will be the result? Since the 15,000,000 bales of American cotton will not be available, the price will be increased in an attempt to secure cotton enough to meet the demand.

It is beyond sane belief that cotton prices will fall below 12 cents, and it is the opinion of the writer that the farmer himself will need the aid of no one to be able to get more than 12 cents for his cotton.

It is also believed that the saner farmers will not sell cotton for less than 15 cents, and that many will wisely hold their cotton for 16 cents, with an excellent probability of getting that price before the end of May.

(Signed.) WILLIAM A. SHELTON.

Vocational Education Committee to Be Named By the State Chamber

The Georgia Chamber of Commerce will soon organize a committee on vocational education, according to an announcement made by General Manager E. Y. Clarke yesterday.

Professor William A. Shelton, of the University of Georgia, came to Atlanta to place before the Georgia chamber the benefits to be derived from a committee on vocational education. According to Mr. Clarke, the committee will be appointed at the next meeting of the board of directors, and Professor Shelton will be an active member of this committee.

Dr. Charles E. Strachan, professor of civil engineering of the University of Georgia, also called upon General Manager Clarke Thursday.

Great Audience Applauds Hugh Dorsey in Columbus; Hundreds Turned Away

Joseph Pottle Present in Immense Crowd of Muscogee County Voters Which Gives Ovation to Speaker. Pottle's Campaign Has Fizzled Out, Asserts Dorsey.

By Britt Craig.

Columbus, Ga., September 7.—(Special.)—Joe Pottle, one of his opponents, was present tonight in the great audience which heard Hugh Dorsey speak at Columbus, as many hundreds being turned away from the courthouse as were able to crowd into the place.

Approximately 1,500 persons were crammed into the place, while from 7:30 o'clock on almost as many were compelled to turn back, unable to get even standing room, let alone seats.

Dorsey, in finest fettle, aroused his hearers to unrestrained acclaim at all times through his address. Invigorated by a full day's rest, he delivered what is considered one of the most brilliant speeches of the campaign.

Hundreds of men in the audience, who were aware of Candidate Pottle's presence, had a genuine laugh when the speaker announced that Pottle's campaign had been born in a caucus of politicians at Macon, had flared up in his home town, Milledgeville, but fizzled out with the Pottle address at the Grand in Atlanta.

Takes Pottle to Task.

He took Pottle severely to task for his alleged allignment with the "ring" which Dorsey charged with having combined his three opponents for the purpose of Dorsey's defeat. Here he was loudly applauded. There were many women in the audience, all of whom manifested enthusiasm.

Dorsey had been informed early in the afternoon that Mr. Pottle would be among those present; that the latter has been in Columbus since last night, having delivered two addresses in nearby towns today. He is scheduled to speak in this city at an early date.

Hugh Dorsey was introduced tonight by Cecil Neill, a resident of Columbus, and author of the famous Neill primary bill. He delivered a brief but eloquent eulogy to the candidate, pronouncing him the most perfectly equipped man offering for gubernatorial service in years. His introductory was roundly cheered.

The scene in the court room was an inspiring one. Men and women occupied every seat and thronged the aisles and standing space until the room was so congested it was impassable. Dorsey's escort upon reaching the place, was compelled to force its way through the mass. Hundreds stood in the lobby unable to hear a word of the address, but anxious for a glimpse or a handshake from the speaker. There were other hundreds gathered on the lawn awaiting Dorsey's return from the court room, while additional hundreds were turning disappointed footsteps homeward.

Will Carry Muscogee.

On no occasion in the history of Muscogee county has there been a larger or more spirited gathering. Dorsey, it is predicted, will carry the county by an overwhelming majority. Upon reaching the city this morning he was met by a delegation of distinguished citizens and a procession through the uptown streets to the Hotel Ralston followed.

A reception had been planned for him at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Hotel Ralston, at which scores of Columbus men and women were scheduled to appear, but because of the candidate's request for rest and quiet, the project was abandoned.

This is the third big city Dorsey has visited recently and each has turned out great audiences. Athens presented him with 4,000 hearers; Rome, with 2,500 and Columbus, with approximately 1,500. There would have been in the neighborhood of 3,000 persons had there been space.

A great number of women were turned away in the overflow, yet on the other hand a still greater number lingered on the courthouse lawn for an opportunity to speak a word with the candidate and grasp his hand. Dorsey was as highly gratified by the Columbus gathering as by that of any he has encountered in South Georgia.

BULL MOOSE POTATO LATEST OF FREAKS IN VEGETABLE LINE

A genuine bull moose potato that would have gladdened the T. R. heart before the tragic obsequies in Chicago last summer was unearthed in a barrel of "spuds" opened in the East Hunter street store of the R. A. Broyles Grocery company yesterday by C. H. Vance and brought to the Constitution office last night. The vegetable was a most peculiar freak of nature, the fore part of it bearing a remarkably close resemblance to the head of the bull moose familiar to the public in political cartoons.

HAVE YOU BOUGHT KEY FOR OPENING OF FAIR?

Actual Canvass of Business Section Will Be Started Early This Morning.

You, Mr. Business Man, will be called upon today to buy an Opening day key to the Southeastern fair!

If, however, you should by any chance be overlooked, call up one of the committeemen, inform him of your desire to have one or two, or more, and ask him to call.

The active canvass of the business section will be started today. Every office building in the skyscraper section will be covered, and every office will be visited at some time. Be on the lookout for them with your half-dollar; hand it to them, get your key and let them pass on to the next one.

The chairman of the various committees which are to make the canvass met Thursday at the chamber of commerce and outlined plans for the work. Julian V. Boehm is general chairman of the committees.

The building chairmen are: Candler building and annex, W. V. Kriegshaber; Third National Bank building, W. C. Wardlaw; Fourth National Bank building, Julian Boehm; Atlanta National Bank building, Philip C. Weltner; Connally building, Joe Brown Connally; Empire building, Harry I. Davis; Grand building, Fred P. Jeter; Chamber of Commerce building, H. H. Robinson; Flat Iron building, R. R. Otis; Walton building, W. Tom Winn; Peters building, Daniel A. Farrell; Hurt building, Charles D. McKinney; Healey building, P. C. McDuffie; Trust Company of Georgia building, Bayne Gibson.

Each of these has serected a working committee which will aid in making the canvass.

A meeting of the Retail Merchants' association will be held this morning at 9 o'clock to plan for a share in the work for opening day. The display cards showing a cut of the key and a cut of the automobile will be distributed to the members.

Of course, to each one who buys a key it is explained the little blue and gold souvenir entitles the purchaser to admission to the fair grounds on the opening day of the Grand Circuit races, Monday, October 16. It is also explained, whenever necessary, that the key may be the means of getting the owner the handsome automobile which will be given away the closing night of the fair.

Search of Pawn Shops Establishes Theory Of Brown Murder

The murder theory in connection with the killing of C. Plumer Brown, former assistant cashier of the Empire Trust and Safety Deposit company, was strengthened yesterday when Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford reported that the pistol found near Brown's body in the Chattahoochee river had not been sold recently by an Atlanta pawnshop.

Those believing that Brown had killed himself were maintaining that a search of records at local pawnshops would disclose that this pistol probably had recently been bought by Brown with the intention of killing himself.

ATLANTA MAN HONORED BY CHIEF OF THE ELKS

Robert A. Gordon Placed on Important Committee by the Grand Exalted Ruler.

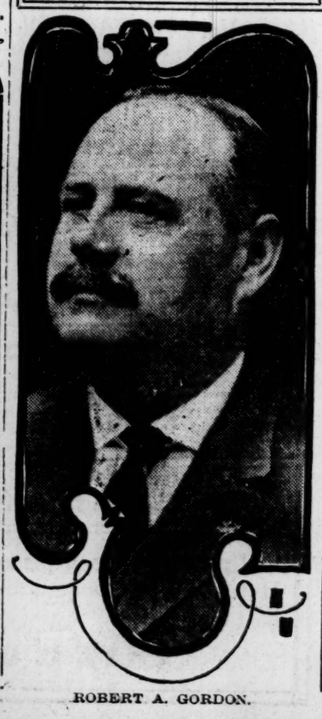

While spending a few hours in Atlanta yesterday between trains, Edward Rightor, of New Orleans, grand exalted ruler of the Elks of the United States, announced the appointment of Robert A. Gordon, vice president of the American Furniture company, as a member of the grand lodge committee on state associations.

This is one of the most important committees of the order and as it consists of only three of the most prominent Elks taken from the whole country, the selection of the Atlanta man is regarded as quite a distinction by his friends. Other members of the committee are Bruce Campbell, of East St. Louis, and Dr. Ralph Hagan, of Los Angeles.

While here Mr. Rightor also announced the appointment of R. O. Arnold, of Atlanta, and John S. Gleason, of Savannah, as district deputies from north and south Georgia, respectively.

This is the third time that Mr. Gordon has been called upon to serve on grand lodge committees, he having been so honored in the years 1914 and 1915

FEDERAL PRISONER REARRESTED JUST AS HE ENDS TERM

After serving three years in the United States penitentiary, Walter S. Buchanan, whose home is in Virginia, was released yesterday only to be rearrested by federal authorities and returned to Richmond, Va., to again stand trial on a charge of using the mails for fraud purposes, a similar charge to the one which he has just paid the penalty.

The new charge originated at Louisa, Va., and a deputy United States marshal was on hand at the prison yesterday when Buchanan was released, from his three years' confinement, armed with an order, signed by Judge Don A. Pardee, for his removal to Richmond. Later in the day, in the custody of a deputy marshal, he started back for another trial.

Buchanan, penitentiary officials say, is a highly-educated, well-mannered gentleman, and during his three years in their custody was a model prisoner. He has a wife, who wired that she would meet him at the station at Richmond. He is about 38 years old, and served in the Philippines and in Cuba as a United States soldier.

Former Atlanta Boy One of Few Adult Victims of Scourge

Chas. T. Logan, Jr., Editor of "The Palisadian," Succumbs to Infantile Paralysis—Son of Former Atlanta Newspaper Man.

News of the death of Charles T. Logan, Jr., the young editor of The Palisadian, a weekly paper published at Palisade, N. J., will be received with sorrow by a number of friends in Atlanta, who knew the boy and his family when the father was connected with the advertising department of The Constitution some twenty years ago. Mr. Logan, who was only 25 years of age, was a victim of infantile paralysis, and died August 2. He was one of the few adult victims of the scourge.

Charles T. Logan, Jr., was born in New Orleans on August 14, 1891. When the boy was very young his father came to Atlanta and was connected with The Constitution for a number of years. About twenty years ago the family removed to New York, where Mr. Logan went into the advertising business on his own account. The young fellow went to the Horace Mann and Barnard schools and then entered Columbia university. Ill health forced him to give up his college work at the end of his junior year.

While he was still a schoolboy he founded the paper of which he was editor when he died. It was during an attack of scarlet fever in January, 1906, when he was only 14 years old, that this dream of a paper for the little town of Palisade came to him. After a visit to his old home in New Orleans he returned to Palisade to find that another person had founded a paper, The Palisade Post. Nothing daunted, the boy succeeded in getting his paper started in September of that year.

The whole village of Palisade joined in paying tribute to the life of the young man who had worked so hard for the village and their appreciations of his work were published in a memorial edition of the paper he had founded and served so well. The mayor, members of the village government, clergymen and just plain citizens all had a good word for "Charley," as they called him. They spoke of his fine character, of his aggressiveness, of his gentlemanly bearing. He had built up an organization which will live after him and his monument is the little weekly that serves the people of Palisade.

HEARING ADJOURNS IN HONOR TO LUMPKIN

R. R. Commission Adjourns Until This Morning—Candler Pays Tribute to Jurist.

On account of the death of Justice Joseph Henry Lumpkin, of the supreme court of Georgia, the Georgia railroad commission adjourned the rate hearing Thursday morning at 11.45 o'clock until Friday morning at 10 o'clock. In announcing this adjournment, Chairman C. M. Candler, of the commission, paid beautiful tribute to the character and career of the dead jurist.

Merrel Callaway, attorney for the railroads in the rate hearing, announced at the adjournment of the Thursday session that it would now be impossible for the carriers to take up the scheduled discussion of the proposed commodity rates on molasses, syrup, stoves and ranges before next Thursday, in view of the fact that the hearing will adjourn until that day on Friday afternoon.

There has been considerable inquiry upon the announcement that rates on "cotton seed oil, pitch, etc.," would be taken up this week. The announcement was not intended to include cotton seed oil, but an entirely different commodity, known as cotton seed oil pitch," the statement being misleading through an error in punctuation.

At the Thursday session Randall Clifton, of the Southern railway, continued his discussion of the proposed commodity rates on brick. He stated that the present Georgia classification includes only common, fire and pressed brick, and takes a minimum carload of 40,000 pounds. The carriers, he said, propose that all kinds of brick, except enamel, shall be included under the present classification and at the present rate, but that the carload minimum shall be reduced to 36,000 pounds. This reduction in carload minimum, Mr. Clifton stated, will be equal to an 11 per cent increase in rate.

The object of this increase, he said, is solely for the purpose of increasing the revenue of the carriers on this commodity, the carriers taking the position that the present Georgia rate is abnormally low.

How to Keep Your Car Looking Fresh and New

Never use ordinary soaps and cleansing reagents for washing your car, as they will invariably destroy the gloss, cause checking of the varnish and make the car look dingy and old. Use only Magiclean automobile cleanser, specially prepared for the purpose. A handful of Magiclean, costing only a few cents, in a bucket of water, quickly cleanses and brightens, and preserves the paint, making an old car look almost as good as new. You can get Magiclean at any of the automobile supply dealers or by writing the Magiclean Company of Atlanta.—(adv.)

Ask Council to Bar Parking of Machines On Marietta Street

It was signed by a large number of the business houses on the street. The petition claims that the parking of cars makes the sidewalks entirely too congested for the transaction of their business.

Crackers Drop Both Games; Barons Pound Ball Hard; Two Games Again Today

NO DETAIL TODAY;
NEXT ONE SUNDAY

There will be no detail at Dick Jemison's baseball parlors today. The next detail will be held Sunday, when the Detroit and Cleveland teams will play at Cleveland. Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker will have another lively battle for the leading batting honors of the American league.

Birmingham, Ala., September 7.—Birmingham went into third place in the league standing today by taking both games of the double-header with Atlanta, 8 to 2 and 11 to 1. The Baron batsmen pounded Perry and Davis hard in both contests, while Robertson and Black were effective.

Errors, coupled with hits, gave the Barons a commanding lead in the first inning of the opening game, while five hits, one a triple, produced six tallies in the second inning of the final game. The Barons ran wild on the bases, stealing eleven bases off Snyder, the Sally league recruit. The first game was played under protest of both managers.

Memphis, September 7.—Kerr and Johnson allowed the same number of hits today, but the Chickasaws bunched theirs and beat Chattanooga, 2 to 0. Paulet's double and Walsh's long single in the second inning accounted for the first Memphis tally. McMillan's error helped the home team to the other run, Cook advancing to third when the Chattanooga shortstop dropped Harris' throw, and scoring on Kerr's sacrifice. Hyatt started Chattanooga's half of the fifth with a single, but could not score, and in the seventh he tripled, but was thrown out at the plate.

All-Stars Win.

Luck's All-Stars defeated the fast West Peachtree team by the score of 12 to 3 yesterday afternoon on the latter's diamond. This makes 23 wins and 6 losses for the Stars this season. The feature of the game was the batting of the entire Stars, and the batting of Whatley and Hill, of the West Peachtree team. Smith for the Stars pitched good ball. Cameron, Holliday, Fife and Harris hit home runs for the Stars. Harris played great ball at short for the Stars and Luck also played good ball at second. Harris, Luck and Fife executed five fast double plays during the game.

SECOND STRAIGHT FOR THE TOURISTS

Pitcher Hall Wins His Own Game With Single in Second Inning, Driving in the Game's Only Runs.

Augusta, Ga., September 7.—George Hall won his own game in the second contest of the Columbia-Augusta championship series, his single in the second inning driving in the only two runs that were scored.

Roth, leading off in this round, had singled and advanced to second when McCoy fumbled Medlock's bunt. Brouthers walked, filling the bases. After Eubanks, had fanned and Burrus popped up, Hall drove the first ball pitched to him to center for a clean single, the runners on second and third scoring easily. Both twirlers were puzzles to the batters, a great number of the hits being infield scratches.

Hall was especially steady in the pinches. Three times the Comers had men on second and third with one down but the hitters following were completely at the mercy of the Tourist twirler. Atkinson was taken out in the eighth to make room for a pinch hitter.

The game was delayed greatly by continual bickering on decisions. Catches by Medlock and Eubanks were the fielding features. Friday's game will be played in Columbia, James and Wilder, in all probability, being the opposing pitchers.

NEGROES ARE ARRESTED FOR BURNING COTTON

Macon, Ga., September 7.—(Special.) Seven negroes were lodged in the county jail here today on warrants sworn out by Bernard Arnold, a farmer residing in the Rutland district, who alleges that the negroes set fire to his cotton warehouse and also burned a quantity of picked cotton in the field.

Mr. Arnold had some words with one of his negro employees Wednesday morning. About noon Wednesday he was notified that his cotton warehouse containing eight bales of cotton, was on fire. He hurried there and managed to save seven of the bales. He later discovered that a large quantity of cotton which had been picked but which had not been brought in from the field, had also been burned. There was every indication that the fire was started by an incendiary. Warrants for the negroes were then taken out.

Little Bob Jones Loses To Champion Bob Gardner

Led Champ at End of Morning Round, But Breaks Go to Gardner in the Afternoon. Gardner Plays Guilford and Evans Meets Corkran in Semi-Finals Today.

Philadelphia, September 7.—The favorites won in the third round of the national golf tournament at the Merion Cricket club today and tomorrow will see Robert A. Gardner, the title holder paired with Jesse Guilford, the Massachusetts champion, while Chick Evans, Chicago, will play against D. C. Corkran, of Baltimore, the only dark horse to reach the semi-finals.

Gardner more than had his hands full to dispose of Bob Jones, the 15-year-old Georgia youth who has been the surprise of the tournament. The title holder was one down after the first 18 holes, but by playing par golf all afternoon won on the thirty-third green by four up and three to play.

From a sectional standpoint the tournament now has a decidedly western flavor with Chicago's open and amateur champions still in, Chick Evans having put his old rival, John G. Anderson, of New York, out of the going today, 9 and 8.

New England has Jesse Guilford, of Manchester, N. H., and Boston still in as the Bay State champion put out Gardiner White, of Flushing, by a 4 and 3 score, and thus New York's chances of showing a winner were crushed.

From the south, D. C. Corkran, of Baltimore, is a representative. Corkran put out today Cameron B. Buxton, Philadelphia's hope, by a 5 and 4 score.

Little Bob Outlucked.

Jones made a supreme effort to beat Gardner and played up to the holes even better than the champion, but on the greens the Chicago player had much the better of it, holing long putts at the most crucial stages.

It is likely that the tide turned in favor of the champion on the sixth, seventh and eighth holes of the afternoon round. Going to the sixth Gardner was two up, Jones having made a bad start. Then he made his effort and was denied.

Going to the sixth hole, both drove long balls, but Jones put his second 15 feet short of the pin, whereas Gardner was off the green and placed very badly for his approach. He was forced to play to a green which sloped away from him, and was very fast. Gardner, however, laid this difficult shot dead and thus picked his par four. Jones had expected to win, and the half disappointed him.

On the short seventh and eighth the conditions were exactly the same, Jones getting his par three and four by playing every shot perfectly, whereas Gardner got his pars in weird fashion. His iron on the seventh was over the green in the rough, yet he got his three. On the eighth Gardner's second was over the green in a pit, his third was on, but 15 yards from the pin, yet he sank the putt to half Jones' perfectly played four.

From then on Gardner was not in danger. He got the count to dormie four and drove his first ball out of bounds, while Jones' was well up the fairway. It looked as if "the kid," as the gallery called Jones, would carry the champion another hole, but Gardner's second drive was a hard one, just short of the green. His approach was hashed and left him 20 feet from the pin, but he sank it, thus getting a three with the second ball, which enabled him to half Jones' perfectly played par four and end the match.

in—445 344
Jones, out— 564 654 345—42

John Anderson, of Siwanoy, was no match today for Chick Evans. The open champion had a lead of six up at the end of 18 holes, while the final score was 9 and 8. Evans played great golf, taking 75 for the completed morning round to 84 by Anderson.

Guilford had no trouble in beating Gardiner White, of Flushing, by a 4 and 3 score. Guilford kept this match well in hand all day, being two up at the turn. He was driving a long ball and outreached White on all the long holes by from 20 to 30 yards. In the morning he was home in two, a drive and brassie, on the long second, 513 yards up hill. Guilford is the only player to reach home in two on this hole during the tournament. He got a birdie, a four, to a par five by so doing.

Guilford's morning medal score was 74, and his afternoon card was just as good up to the time his match was ended. Tomorrow when he meets Gardner the two longest amateur drivers in America will be together.

Corkran was two up at the end of the morning round with Buxton. His medal was 79 to 81 for Buxton.

The largest gallery of the week followed the Gardner-Jones match.

Jesse Guilford, Boston, beat Gardiner White, New York, 4 and 3.

W. C. Corkran, Baltimore, beat C. B. Buxton, Philadelphia, 5 and 4.

Chick Evans easily defeated John G. Anderson, 9 and 8.

CAMP GUARD ARRESTS WHITE MEN CHARGED WITH SELLING "DOPE"

Macon, Ga., September 7.—(Special.) Two white men are in the Bibb county jail charged with peddling "dope." They are Flemmie Jordan, who was arrested in a cabin at the edge of Camp Harris late last night, and Claud Padgett, who was arrested at a rooming house on Walnut street. Both of the men were caught in the act of administering a "shot in the arm" to persons who had called at their respective abodes for that purpose.

Jordan was arrested by Provost Sergeant Studstill at Camp Harris, the officer having been looking for the person who has been peddling "dope" to the soldiers at the camp for some time past. Sergeant Studstill witnessed the entire transaction through a window of the cabin where Jordan has been living. He stepped into the room and arrested Jordan just as he had finished the preparation of the "shot." He turned Jordan over to the federal authorities. The man has been committed to jail in default of a $200 bond.

Later revenue officers went to the Walnut street boarding house and arrested Padgett, watching him prepare to administer a "shot" to a man giving the name of E. P. Land. Both Padgett and Land claim to be from Augusta.

AMUSEMENTS

Popular Vaudeville.

(At the Piedmont.)

The Penn City Trio is without doubt the headline act at the Piedmont theater for the latter half of this week. This act consists of three singers, billed as harmony singers, and they deliver what the audience likes. They were encored at each performance Thursday. The offering is worthy of applause.

Kafka and Sherman offer a good act, giving some new and original things in the way of acrobatics. The woman in the team holds one end of the slack wire by her teeth while her partner walks on it. Taken all together, this act is also very good.

Jackson and Florence, show quick-change ability. They offer an entertaining program with many things worthy of a more generous applause than they were accorded at the performance last night. In view of the fact that they arrived late and were only on the stage for the last two performances in the evening, they got their act across with great ease.

Karuso's shadowgraphs, made by throwing the shadows of the performer's fingers on a white screen, are very good. Many interesting and amusing pictures are given the audience.

Mitchell and Love offer the usual line of patter. La Tell and Valvena, acrobats, and good ones, who were in the bill the first of the week, are still there, making the sixth number on the program. They get a good hand.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Topped by Gertrude Vanderbilt and George Moore, the current Keith vaudeville bill at the Forsyth is proving one of winning proportions. Miss Vanderbilt and Mr. Moore appear in a new and elegantly staged and gowned offering. Una Clayton, the celebrated writer, is another feature of the bill in her latest comedy success, "Collusion." Prominent among other attractions are the Seven Honey Boy Evans minstrels in an exceptional offering. Walter de Leon and Mary Davies appear in their original and screamingly funny "Burlesque Movies." Hans Wilson and the McNallys star in eccentric dances; Josie O'Meers sings and dances on a slack wire and the Three Romanos offer an unusual athletic act in which daring stunts are performed atop ladders.

"The Natural Law."

(At the Grand.)

In Charles Sumner's graphic drama, "The Natural Law," which is to be seen at the Grand opera house week of September 11, he introduces a character heretofore practically unknown to the American stage, in Ruth Stanley, a rising young artist. There have been many plays based upon the love of an artist for his model, but this is the first instance in a native drama where the artist is the girl and the model is the man in the case.

And yet there is nothing of effeminacy about Mr. Sumner's model. He has avoided this danger by making him an athlete, and his posing for the artist is the result of his having been chosen as the American representative in the marathon at the Olympic games.

Studios, both of artists and of musicians, have been the scenes of many stage romances, and the playgoer will readily recall such footlight stories as "Trilby," "A Modern Lady Godiva," "La Boheme," "The Common Law," "The Fallen Idol" and "Sold." But in all of these it is the girl student or model who is the recipient of the artist's or musician's admiration, and the lure of physical attraction is quickened by the woman.

In Mr. Sumner's play, however, he goes Bernard Shaw one better, and makes the woman the pursuer, lured by man's Adonis-like attributes.

It is a striking and highly interesting variation of the old theme.

Matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Joe Mullen.

(At the Victoria.)

Entertainers, like poets, are born, not made. Joe Mullen, who has been pastiming at the Victoria all week, is just such a fellow. When it comes to entertaining, Joe is just a natural-born tickler of the public fancy. In this he is assisted by expressive tones of the accordion. He is an accordion player of the first order. Not that he is Italian, either; although he takes to this Italian organ naturally. To hear him sing Irish ballads, you know that he is Irish. When an Irishman breaks into "A Little Bit of Heaven," you don't have to know his lineage to know whence he came.

Joe Mullen is a pretty good show all to himself. But the Victoria is throwing in a masterpicture of five reels every day on the side.

"Saving the Family Name."

(At the Strand.)

The Strand will offer its patrons today a picture that will evoke much discussion among those who see it, for it raises a question that is more or less before the public perennially, but which never yet has been settled conclusively in the public mind. "Saving the Family Name" presents a new treatment of the ever-interesting subject—the stage and theatrical life. It demonstrates the influence, for good or evil, that women in the public eye have upon young men of wealth and position in society.

"Liberty."

(At the Alpha.)

For the second time this week the Alpha announces a new serial for its patrons. "Liberty" deals with adventure below the Mexican border at the present day. Outlaw Mexican bandits, border raids and their repulse by American troops, the adventures of an American girl on a great hacienda down below the Rio Grande, the trapping of American troops and their splendid fight to escape the ambush pepared for them by traitorous natives, pitched battles in the mesquite country and in the mountains of Sonora—all combine to make "Liberty" a super-serial with all the attractions of a heart-interest drama and the thrills of a real life photographic reproduction of actual events along our southwestern border.

Theda Bara.

(At the Georgian.)

A romantic, but true-to-life story of everyday American life is unfolded in the William Fox feature film, "The Eternal Sapho," with Theda Bara in the leading role, and which is at the Georgian theater today. In this picture the famous actress achieves new honors and adds to her international fame as a wonderful actress. It is a verile photo-drama of the soul and points a moral which hits home to every man and woman. It opens with a dash and go and holds the interest from the first reel to the last in a thrilling story which begins in the underworld and ends in what is called high society. A Pathe weekly is also scheduled for today.

On Saturday Charlotte Walker comes in "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine."

WHEAT PRICES DROP WITH OTHER GRAINS

Reports That Greece Had Joined Allies Started Decline in Nervous Market. Reaction Fails to Overcome Fall.

Chicago, September 7.—Reports that Greek forces had joined with the British and French troops to fight the Bulgarians led to a decline in the wheat market today, but prices later made a rally, helped by word of Bulgarian success against Rumania. The close was nervous, ¼ to 1⅛c net lower, with December at $1.54¾ and May at $1.55. Corn finished ⅝c off to a like advance; oats down 1⅛@¼ to ¼@⅜c, and provisions varying from 15c decline to a rise of 10c.

Wheat traders appeared to be watching chiefly for signs as to whether an outlet would soon be found for the big surplus stocks piled up in Russia and Rumania. It was announced that there was sufficient tonnage at present in the Black sea to move 20,000,000 bushels, and that altogether 400,000,000 bushels would be available if the Dardanelles were opened. Assertions, therefore, that Greek troops at Saloniki had reinforced the Anglo-French allies had an immediate bearish effect here. Gossip that some Greek export orders at New York had been canceled tended, also, to depress prices. Later, however, doubt arose as to whether there had been any really important change of the military situation in Greece.

Bullish reactions late in the day failed to overcome entirely the previous downturns in the wheat market. The recovery, though, was still in progress when interrupted by the closing gong. Most of the relative final strength appeared to be due to the surrender of a Rumanian fortress and 20,000 men within 50 miles of the capital of Rumania. There were also predictions current that the Washington crop report would prove to be in favor of the bulls.

Corn averaged lower with wheat. Shipping business to the east was restricted by inability to obtain cars.

Oats weakened mainly out of sympathy for wheat and corn. The primary movement exceeded last week's showing.

Provisions had a downward tendency for the most part. Packers were sellers, especially of lard.

DeKalb Is Preparing For Coming Contests On Proposed Merger

Decatur, Ga., September 7.—(Special.) The spirited contest for the legislature and senate in this county is warming up as it approaches its close, and a meeting of the anti-merger party will be held at the courthouse here Friday night. It is expected that this meeting will be the largest yet held, and will be addressed by Hon. C. M. Candler, Hon. Hooper Alexander, Colonel George M. Napier and others.

The question of merging this county with Fulton has become the main issue in the legislative race, and has overshadowed all other political questions. J. Howell Green and R. F. Gilliam are running for the legislature on a platform favoring the merger. They are opposed by L. J. Steele and J. L. Chupp, for the legislature, and Alonzo Field, for the senate, who are opposed to the merger.

Following the meeting at the courthouse Friday night a final rally of the anti-merger people will be held on the courthouse lawn Monday night, and will be addressed by a number of speakers.

Messrs. Steele, Chupp and Field will address the citizens of Tucker Friday night.

Advocates of the merger will hold a meeting in the courthouse Monday night. Addresses will be delivered by J. Howell Green, R. F. Gilliam and others.

NEW YORK FINANCES SHOW DEPRESSIONS

Prominent Specialties Suffer During Broad Market. Reading Establishes Highest Price Since May.

New York, September 7.—Over-extended bull accounts in some of the prominent specialties suffered more or less depression in today's broad and active market, while Coppers, Petroleums, Tobaccos and numerous minor issues pursued a contrary course.

There was heavy selling of the Mercantile Marines, the common making an extreme decline of 2 points, with 2 for the preferred. United Fruit forfeited 2 points, but Pacific Mail, controlled by marine interests, made a gross gain of 4½.

United States Steel reflected steady realizing for profits on yesterday's advance to a new record, though losing only a half point on the day, but Kelly-Springfield Tire, one of the strongest issues of the motor group, broke 4 points to 80½, only part of this decline being regained.

Reading's strength was the outstanding feature, mounting 4⅝ to 110⅝, its highest price since last May, with moderate activity and strength in other coalers. New York Central, Baltimore and Ohio and New Haven. Pacifics helped the movement in rails for a time, but fell back on light offerings.

Improvement in Coppers did not make much headway until the final hour, when inspiration rose 3 to the new record of 50⅞, with average gains of 1½ points in other metals. Favorable trade conditions and additional foreign orders were accepted as the primary reasons for the movement.

Scarcity of the finished product accounted for the activity at higher prices of the several paper issues. International Paper common and preferred gaining from 2 to 4 points. Munitions and equipments were irregular at best and motors yielded to pressure with their accessories. Total sales of stocks amounted to 1,035,000 shares.

The firmness of francs and another reaction in marks, both on nominal dealings, featured the exchange market.

Bonds were irregular, with heaviness in Rock Island debentures. Total sales, par value, were $3,485,000.

United States bonds were unchanged on call.

Sugar.

New York, September 7.—The local market for raw sugar was firmer at ⅛c advance on a continued good demand from refiners, prompted by the better business in granulated, both for domestic and export account. The sales were estimated at about 50,000 bags of Cubas in store and prompt shipment at 4⅛c cost and freight and 8,000 bags of San Domingo sugars. At the close there was some little sugar still available at this level, but offerings were being pressed and the undertone was firm. Centrifugal was quoted at 5.15; molasses, 4.37 and Cubas cost and freight, 4⅛.

The recent adjustment in refined prices seemed to have stimulated the demand to some extent and today there was a very good business reported. It was also rumored that exporters were again in the market and during the past few days 14,000 tons were said to have been sold to Norway. Prices were unchanged, practically all refiners listing on the basis of 6.25 for fine granulated.

Aside from a slight advance in the September and October positions, which were higher on covering, owing to the strength in the spot market the sugar futures market was generally lower all day. Cuban interests seemed to be selling rather freely and as the demand was not particularly aggressive, prices eased off, closing 3 points higher to 4 points lower. Sales, 8,750 bags.

New York, September 7.—Reports of continued free southern selling were followed by a further and even severer decline in the cotton market here today. December contracts, for instance, sold off to 15.33 in the late trading or 32 points under last night's closing price and 114 points under the high record of last Friday. Closing prices were easy at the lowest of the day, or from 28 to 37 points under last night's final figures.

Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to increased southern selling and there were southern selling orders around the ring here at the opening. First prices were barely steady at a decline of 3 to 13 points in consequence, and the market broke some 25 to 30 points below last night's close before the end of the morning.

At this level offerings subsided and there were rallies of some 10 or 16 points from the lowest on covering, but the buying was by no means aggressive and the market developed renewed weakness during the middle of the afternoon owing to a reappearance of southern selling orders.

Scattering long accounts have doubtless been considerably reduced on the early decline, as stop orders had been uncovered below the 15½c level, but liquidation again became active, with October selling off to 15.19, January to 15.40 and March to 15.56. Houses with southern connections were sellers of October right up to the close and the weakness in the near month was accompanied by rumors that considerable cotton was moving toward New York for delivery on contract.

Better weather advices and the favorable weather belt forecast contributed to the decline, while the trade was predicting bearish ginning returns from the census bureau tomorrow morning. Reports reached here during the early afternoon that southern offerings were being withdrawn at the decline, but the southern spot markets officially reported early were generally lower.

Spot cotton quiet; middling uplands 15.50. No sales.

New Orleans Down 31 to 33 Points.

New Orleans, September 7.—A declining tendency still was maintained in the local cotton market today, partly because of liquidation from the long side and short selling and partly because of the selling of contracts as hedges against new crop cotton. Stimulating short offerings was the report that much cotton was being offered in the south on a basis which made it tenderable against October contracts. Another influence which encouraged short sales was the belief in a bearish ginning report from the census bureau tomorrow. The market closed within a point of the lowest of the day, a net loss of 31 to 32 points.

The opening was at the decline, Liverpool being lower than due and brokers having considerable volume of overnight selling orders to fill. In the early trading the weakest months lost about $1 a bale. During the day there were several hard spots, caused chiefly by fresh buying from bullish traders who thought the decline had run its course, these periods did not last long and the lowest levels were reached near the close. The one bullish feature to attract any attention was the report from both the eastern and western belts that a holding movement was starting among the growers.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New York, September 7.—(Special.)—At its low point today cotton was a full 100 points below the top prices of the season. Many people pick objective figures such as these to scalp around and all having argued from the same viewpoint, arriving at the same conclusion causes the market to show a semblance of strength.

Probably 20,000 to 50,000 bales of cotton were bought by bulls and bears on the decline. For the moment at least it checked the decline. Free offerings of spot cotton plus a reluctant buying power even at the decline left the market with very little steam aboard, and should it be forced unwillingly into lower levels the buyers of today would regret having bought either to cover or for a turn. At its best, however, a rally following today's low figures would be short-lived, as those who bought today only want a small profit to get out and possibly go short, for they realize the rapid accumulation of unsold spot cotton.

The best posted people of the trade are inclined to think that the farmer himself will prove a very poor holder of spot cotton at above the 12½ cents level and they realize that the country merchant can quickly acquire all the spot cotton he cares to carry, when that cotton approximates $75 per bale in value.

Last year the cotton carried from one crop to another approximated 8 to 9 cents in price and by the time the new crop began to move the owners of that cheap cotton saw enough profit to justify their buying and holding new cottons. This year the cotton carried over cost above 12 cents and the new crop cottons are so high in price that to buy additional quantities might entail a healthy loss with a small decline.

We look for lower prices for cotton and consider the market a sale on all rallies unless added volume of spinning buying appears.

RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, September 7.—(Special.)—The action of the cotton market today indicates that there is a disposition to await further developments regarding the improvements of the crop and to consider the effects of what further hedge selling will have on values. There was also some further liquidation and short selling due to the uncertainty of what the government ginning report will show tomorrow.

It may be possible that this report will be construed somewhat bearish as far as figures are concerned, but in the event of a decline we believe splendid opportunities will be presented to make purchases.

There was no news affecting the underlying conditions and nither do we expect anything to occur that will keep the market from reaching much higher prices ultimately. We unhesistatingly advise purchases at or near these levels.

JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, September 7.—(Special.)—Very heavy liquidation occurred in this market today and before it had fully run its course prices declined 25 points, representing a reaction of fully 100 points from the high level. This selling movement has improved the market's technical position and placed it in position to respond to fresh buying.

Taken as a whole, reports indicate no improvement in crop prospects and therefore it is highly improbable southern holders will continue to press sales. In fact, late advices say farmers have refused to meet the decline. At this level we favor purchases.

BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New Orleans, September 7.—(Special.)—The action of the market today was very similar to that of yesterday, with hedge selling and liquidation the principal feature. Today, however, bearish traders began to show confidence and sold much more freely.

Just at present there is nothing in sight calculated to cause any bullish enthusiasm and barring temporary upward fluctuations, we believe in lower prices.

DUGGAN, MAGINNIS & CO.

New York, September 7.—(Special.)—Offers of cotton to Liverpool over night opened that market lower than due, which led our local traders to believe the time had come to buy for a rally from the continuous decline since last Friday. Only for a moment, however, did the market advance above the opening price because the hedge selling from the south was constant and continuous from the beginning to the end of the session. Therefore our local traders found few outside buyers and they are believed to have taken many of their purchases home with them.

The decline also brought in selling orders from the west as profits began to disappear. So long as the pressure on the near high prices continues in the south this market will be called on to absorb a large line of hedges because, as we have repeatedly stated during the past month, it looks as though the American spinner had nearly five months' supply on hand from August 1 spots and contracts.

Coffee.

New York, September 7.—The market for coffee futures was nervous and irregular during today's trading. An opening decline of 1 to 4 points was followed by rallies, with December selling up to 9.40 and March to 9.55, or about 4 points net higher on covering, but the market soon weakened under renewed liquidation and scattering pressure which may have been promoted by talk of slightly easier firm offers. This break carried the more active positions into new low ground, with December selling at 9.23 and March at 9.40, or about 11 to 13 points net lower, after which prices rallied again on renewed covering, with the close net 3 points higher to 2 points lower, near months being relatively steady. Sales, 53,000.

Spot coffee quiet; Rio sevens, 10c; Santos fours, 11¾. Cost and freight offers were about unchanged to 20 points lower with fours quoted at 11.50, London credits.

The official cables reported an advance of 50 reis in the Rio market, while Santos spots were unchanged and futures 50 to 75 reis lower. Rio exchange on London 1-32d lower. The weather was fine in Sao Paulo with temperatures ranging from 52 to 93 degrees. Brazilian port receipts, 76,000; Jundiahy, 45,000. ATLANTA'S STRIDES
From Day to Day

Permits to remodel several north side homes, disclosures of a steadily-increasing volume of small sale, and office building leases featured realty news yesterday.

The rent situation continues to improve. September has opened with a large number of people not yet moved, although leases are dated from September 1. The Smith, Ewing & Rankin agency reports that it has practically rented every house on its rent list.

Duncan Home Repairs.

W. S. Duncan took a permit to make alterations and repairs on his handsome East Fourteenth street home, at No. 28. The permit is for $4,000. W. A. Wimbish also took a permit to make repairs to his home at No. 945 Peachtree street.

The aggregate value of building permits issued Thursday was $9,000. Tuesday showed $15,000 worth of new building operations set on foot; Wednesday, $25,000, and Thursday the value of this week's building figures was boosted to the sum of $48,000. Monday being Labor day, there were no permits issued.

Connally Building Leases.

Several leases in the Connally building have been made by T. W. Connally, manager.

He has leased to the Atlanta Trunk and Bag company No. 24 Whitehall street. The lease is for a short term. This company formerly occupied No. 92 Whitehall street, which is in line for the improvements to be made by the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose company. When this new building is completed the Atlanta Trunk and Bag company will move back to No. 92, where they will be one of the departments in the new retail store of the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose company.

Rooms Nos. 201 and 202 Connally building have been leased to the Connally Building Hair Dressing Parlors, and No. 203 to the Vogue Pattern company.

NEWS PUBLISHED FOR FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 8TH

A Message Concerning New Fall Clothes for Girls

—At this store the wants of the school miss are studied, analyzed and known. This highly specialized branch of our business is in charge of a woman who knows it from A to Z—and she knows girls like a book. She knows that the average young girl is a first-rate style critic, and she picks out juvenile fashions with this fact firmly in mind.

—Practically all of our early fall purchases for girls are in Among the new things are these:

—Serge dresses in straight line, Peter Thompson and two-piece coatee effects for girls of 6 to 14 years. They are priced $5.95 to $16.50.

—Dresses of plain or plaid wool serge for girls of 14 to 17 years, $12.50 to $19.75.

—Delightful frocks of messaline, taffeta and fancy plaid silk for girls 8 to 16 years of age are presented at $9.95 to $22.50.

—Tailored middy dresses of all white middy cloth or white with Copen or red trimming, for girls of 6 to 14 years, are $1.50 to $2.95.

—Middy blouses of shrunken cream or navy blue flannel trimmed with silk soutache braid, for girls of 14 to 20 years, are $3.95.

—Pleated middy skirts of navy blue wool serge for girls of 6 to 14 years are $2. These are made with waists. Belted serge middy skirts for girls of 16 and 18 years are priced $3.50.

98c Spells Quick Departure for Duplex Card Cases

—French gray finished German silver card cases in embossed designs—the picture gives a better idea of them than a hundred words or more of carefully written descriptive matter could.

—If you will examine the picture closely you will see the duplex clasp which prevents the case from flying open without warning. Inside compartment of gray kid. The quantity that we have to sell at 98c is limited.

Net Top Laces to Go at 59c Yard

—Clearance of a little surplusage of 27-inch net top lace flouncings. Come in white only. 59c is less than half the earlier price.

Handkerchiefs of Crepe de Chine 25c

—Dainty squares of pretty crepe de chine—white, white with colored borders, colored and embroidered. 25c is ever so little for them.

For Baby's Health, Comfort and Safety The Cariole

—Glance at the illustration: you get the idea, don't you, mothers?

—The Cariole is a comfortable play pen for the baby by day, and at night it can be used as a crib.

—It is constructed of white enameled wood with screen sides. The wheels are rubber-tired. In the bottom is a soft mattress, and there is a mosquito bar to throw over the top to keep out flies and gnats.

—But come—let us show the Cariole to you—it has so many good points that we can't begin to tell about all of them in this announcement.

—The Cariole is made in two sizes. The small size is priced $15; the large one is $17.50.

—You can see the Cariole on exhibition in the Furniture Section on our Second Floor.

The Public Record of Mr. Howard Will Be Uncovered

HON. WALTER P. ANDREWS WILL PRESIDE

Come out and hear the man, who, as legislator for ten years, has stood loyally by Atlanta and Fulton county.

LADIES ESPECIALLY INVITED

ROBERT BLACKBURN SCORED BY HOWARD

Declares Opponent Is a "Demagogue" and Ridicules Candidacy — John Boykin Makes Attack on Eb. T. Williams.

William Schley Howard, candidate to succeed himself as representative in congress from the Fifth Georgia district, in advance announcements of his speech in the English Avenue schoolhouse for Thursday night promised to "burn Bob Blackburn up," and he did his best to make good his promise.

His speech, which was delivered before an audience of perhaps 250 fifth ward voters in the school auditorium, was devoted largely to the castigation of R. B. Blackburn, his opponent for the congressional nomination. He called Mr. Blackburn a demagogue, and he ridiculed the Atlantan's candidacy from start to finish.

"Why," he said, "Bob Blackburn has got about as much chance of carrying one county of this congressional district as I stand for climbing a greased pole backward with both arms full of eels."

Attacks "Bob" Blackburn.

"This man," said Howard at another stage of his vitriolic address, "says he is a democrat; yet, in every speech he has made he has been either too ungrateful or too cowardly to pay even a word of tribute to the unsurpassable record of the greatest president the United States has ever had—Woodrow Wilson—and he has said not a word in praise of the remarkable record of constructive legislation put through congress under the guidance of Woodrow Wilson—not a word of all the glorious things the administration has accomplished for the good of humanity." And Mr. Howard, in comparing his own record in this respect, said:

"I have voted for every proposition Woodrow Wilson has put before congress, and if you fail to return me on that record, you slap Woodrow Wilson in the face." This came near the end of his speech, and his concluding paragraph was:

"Yes, I am a democrat—not an infamous demagogue. I'm not spending my days and nights trying to hatch up mere stuff to ride into congress upon. Snow him under! I thank you."

Replying to a charge he said Blackburn had made that Howard had "missed 19 roll calls in the 64th congressional session," he said that "any fool can answer to roll-call—any fool can say 'here' when his name's called. It may be 19 roll calls I have missed, or 91, I don't know, and I've always when absent been absent in the discharge of my duties, or for other equally good reason; but he can't say that whenever a measure was pending, or whenever an issue was up which placed the welfare of this country in jeopardy that 'Old Bill' didn't vote."

Says Blackburn Is Ignorant.

Mr. Howard read a telegram from South Trimble, clerk of the national house of representatives, saying that Mr. Blackburn has not yet filed his statement of pre-election expenses, required by law to be filed, he said, not later than ten days prior to the primary election. He jokingly said that Blackburn thus "now is subject to prosecution by the government on a charge, the penalty of which is a fine not to exceed $1,000 and twelve months' imprisonment. But," he said, "I'm only sorry for the poor fellow for his ignorance; and I'm going to ask President Wilson next year, after the grand jury indicts him—Blackburn—as it is bound to do, to intercede with the district attorney and ask that he be not prosecuted; and if he is prosecuted, I'll ask the president to pardon him. I'll do that because I pity a man so ignorant."

Howard said at the outset that he didn't intend to "hit Blackburn too hard."

"There's no use to shoot No. 5 shot at a hummingbird," he said, amid roars of laughter, "when you can kill him just as easily with mustard-seed shot."

"Blackburn says he's going to uncover my record tomorrow night," said the congressman. "Well, he'll have a man's job if he does."

Howard charged Blackburn with temporizing with the liquor interests; with "preaching temperance in the country and preaching local option in the cities." As for himself, he said he would vote for universal prohibition.

He had the secretary of the meeting—which was a meeting of the Fifth Ward Improvement club—read two letters praising in highest terms, his (Howard's) record as a congressman, and there were cheers when the names of the writers were read—those of Champ Clark and Claude Kitchen.

Boykin Makes Speech.

John Boykin, candidate for solicitor general, followed Mr. Howard, and made a bitter attack upon his opponent, Eb. T. Williams, and charged that he (Boykin) is being fought on a "platform of passion and prejudice; and my opponent has brought himself down to the level of the hired henchman."

"I am running on my record as a practicing lawyer in Atlanta for 20 years," said Boykin, "during which I have tried over 1,000 cases before juries. No man can say that I ever entered a saloon and took a drink, or that my life, as a lawyer, a citizen, a husband and a father has not been clean throughout."

Dr. John C. White, candidate for the legislature, closed the meeting with a speech which contrasted markedly with those of the two preceding it. He spoke in a happy, even vein, which left the audience in good humor.

HENDERSON DISCUSSES STATE ROAD EXTENSION

Fine Terminal Facilities Are Planned for Macon and Atlanta by Promoters.

J. A. J. Henderson, who was in Atlanta yesterday, revealed some of the details which will be submitted to the Western and Atlantic railroad commission in connection with Mr. Henderson's proposal to extend the state road to the sea.

He declared that, while his plan is amply supported financially, and that he is prepared to show this to the commission, he does not believe that he should reveal the backers of the plan prematurely.

He declared, however, that it is the purpose of the promoters of this extension proposition to build a road from Atlanta via Macon to St. Mary's, where the state owns water frontage, on as nearly a direct air-line as possible. He stated that it is proposed to spend approximately $1,000,000 in Atlanta on terminal facilities and a similar sum in Macon, while a large sum would also be so invested at St. Mary's.

Will Not Affect Plan.

Mr. Henderson declared that while there are several lines between Atlanta and the sea whose trackage could probably be bought and used in such an extension, that whether or not the tracks of any existing road are utilized will not affect the plan in the least.

It is expected that the commission will stipulate that any extension plan to be considered by the commission shall contemplate no extension to any port beyond the confines of the state of Georgia, in order that the state road may not become further involved in interstate commerce than it at present finds itself through its trackage in Tennessee. Mr. Henderson stated that such a stipulation would not affect the plans of the backers of this extension project to perfect a direct line from Atlanta to Jacksonville, Fla.; that if the state road is extended under his proposed plan, his backers will build an independent road from St. Mary's to Jacksonville, so that the entire state road might be operated as a direct one-line haul from Chattanooga to Jacksonville.

While Mr. Henderson did not so state, this might indicate that whatever interests are backing him will propose to the commission to lease not only the extension but the entire road, both the portion now operated and that proposed to be built.

Develop South Georgia Territory.

Mr. Henderson said that not least in the consideration of himself and his associates in proposing to extend the state road to the sea is the development of the south Georgia territory through which such a road would pass, upon which development, of course, would depend to a very material degree the financial success with which the road might be operated.

He stated that as soon as the commission advertises for bids and proposals, he and his associates will be ready to submit the details of their plans, which he entertains the hope and belief that the commission will accept.

Mr. Henderson stated that he has just held a conference with Chairman C. M. Candler, of the commission, as to the intention of the commission to advertise September 25 for proposals to extend the road, and that he is pleased with the result of the interview.

Washington, September 7.—American consuls at Glasgow and Barcelona were directed today to forward all available information regarding the sinking of the British steamer Kelvinia, from which twenty-eight Americans were rescued, and the Italian bark Stella Del Mare, which had two "presumable" Americans among her crew. The state department asked particularly whether the Kelvinia was sunk by a torpedo or mine, and for the circumstances of the alleged submarine attack upon the Italian vessel.

Be Strong With Your Bank

A big manufacturer whose bank relations were slightly strained took our statement of his business to his bank's officials.

It was a good statement because the business justified it. It restored most cordial relations and at once strengthened his credit.

The bank simply wanted to KNOW—that was all. Compared to results, the cost of the audit was insignificant.

WILL ASK NEW BIDS FOR WORK OF PAVING PEACHTREE STREET

Council yesterday passed a resolution rescinding its previous action in awarding the contract for paving Peachtree street from Fifteenth street to the city limits to the Gulf Paving company, of Chattanooga. At the same time council passed another resolution calling for the paving and authorizing the city to call for new bids for the work. This action will delay the paving for about three weeks.

When bids for this work were first called for the contract was given to the Gulf Paving company, and a certified check for $1,000 as guarantee to fulfill the contract was put up.

The chief of construction was notified September 6 that the company did not wish to be held to the contract and did not want to be forced to do the work. The resolution adopted Thursday authorized the return of the company's check. It was passed later by the aldermanic board.

COUNCIL PROVIDES WATERING TROUGHS FOR THE BIG FAIR

Council at its meeting yesterday voted to authorize the water department to install several water mains with watering troughs and other equipment in the grounds of the Southeastern Fair association to care for the stock to be exhibited there during the fair.

The meeting was an adjourned one for the special purpose of considering this important subject. Later at a meeting of the aldermanic board that body concurred in the action of council. The papers on the subject have already met the approval of the mayor and it is certain that he will sign them.

By this action of council adequate watering facilities for stock and for fire protection will be provided. The paper also provides that water facilities shall be installed on the unloading platform where the stock is brought into the city.
